Mrs. Holt, "the architect," and the architects worked for weeks with us planning a building which would express the community spirit and serve the community needs. Then we sought builders, and as the work of construction proceeded, the community spirit grew and the builders became the person, Mr. Wilson. Now Mrs. Shain will officially take over the building for the association and I think we all agree that if it hadn't been for Ruth Shain, we shouldn't have been dedicating this building."

Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Farrar expressed their appreciation for having been chosen to aid in the construction of this community building and their thanks for the cooperation of the building committee. "As a representative of the Board of Directors," said Mrs. Shain, "I want to express to the architects and to Mr. Wilson our appreciation for their deep personal interest in the community and each member of the furnishings committee, our appreciation for their expert taste in selecting the furniture."

"In all the country around," continued Mrs. Shain, "I am sure that our community houses can take equal ours in dignity and beauty. We must not, however, think that our duty is discharged. We must apply ourselves with still greater devotion to the cause of our community." Mrs. Shain mentioned the tendency in Birmingham as in all suburban towns for the newer groups to form cliques among themselves, and expressed her opinion that through the Community House, this tendency could be checked.

Gets Voluntary Support
The common welfare is the common concern of all, Mrs. Shain said further. "The Community House is supported only by contributions from the voluntary good will. Much self-sacrifice on the part of many will be required to make the success of this project, and I commend the house to you for sympathy and support."

The dedication of the building, which was to have been spoken by Mrs. C. R. Wilson, general chairman of the building committee, was spoken in her absence by Mrs. Charles Burgess, who recited the dedicatory words to the standing audience.

"We have come together with splendid memories, ardent hopes and eager expectations to dedicate this beautiful new Community House of Birmingham, a building in one of our unrecaptured miracles. It comes to us out of the unseen, God and man build it together. The wood which forms its substance is a part of the life of great forests; the mind which sees its form fashions its visible structure out of invisible material; the hands which build its frame have the skill of creative workmanship; the life which it shelters crowns it with meaning and purpose. Great is the mystery of a building!"

The sentences of dedication were pronounced by the Rev. R. M. Atkins, and the Rev. Warner L. Forrester.

Welcomes It Into Family
Harry Allen, president of the village, and Rella J. Coryell, president of the Board of Education and of the Community House, receiving the building, next greeted the audience. "My sole function here," said Mr. Allen, "is merely to welcome this institution into the other family of institutions which minister to all sorts of community needs. Do you really dedicate this house? I think you are celebrating something finer than the agglomeration of bricks and stone; you are celebrating the spirit of the men and women who have worked for it so many years. The finest things in life are human beings. We can do without buildings and furniture—they are merely the tools and the same fine spirit of helpfulness can be present whether or not there is a building for it."

"I regard this building as a common," Mr. Allen concluded, "and I wish that some part of it might become a meeting ground of all the kinds of people there are in the village. Most troubles spring from misunderstanding and ignorance. This building ought to do much to eliminate misunderstanding, and I wish it success."

Mr. Coryell expressed the hope that the Community House might become a link between school and activity in the village. "I have seen many young people leave school," he said in part, "and they leave it sadly, realizing that a guiding factor has been removed from their lives. I hope that the Community House will take away the blank feeling felt by many after graduation."

The Present Rooms Next
The presentation of special rooms was the next feature of the program. The Susan French Miller room, named in honor of the first president of the association, was presented by Mrs. George T. Hendrie, a character member of the Board of Directors. Mrs. Hendrie read a letter from Mrs. Marjorie Miller Whitmore, Mrs. Miller's daughter, mentioning her pleasure at the board's act in naming the auditorium for her mother. The Rev. Charles H. Curdy, founder of the Community House 1919-1920, responded. The Bath Shain room was presented by Mrs. Milton Schatz, former director, and Florence Adams Memorial Fire Place, in that room, was presented by Miss Margaret Bell.

Other rooms were presented in the following order: The Mary Griffith room, by Mrs. T. Donovan member of the Directorate, 1923-1930; the Business Women's parlor, by Mrs. W. D. Thompson, board representative to the club; the Judson Bradway Room for Boys, by William C. Harris, who officiated at the dedication of the Community House, Apr. 28, 1923; the Girl Scout Assembly room, by Mrs. Richard Fowler, president of the Scout council; and the Boy Scout Assembly room, by James Martin, president of the Scout council. During the last two presentations, Girl and Boy Scouts in turn marched to the front, carrying banners, and stood at attention during the exercises.

Fireplace Lighted
The auditorium fire place was lighted at an impressive ceremony of the Girl Reserves. Attired in white middie-aid skirts and carrying candles, they marched to the center aisle. The first place was lighted with the candle of the Spirit, and Mrs. Harold Gray spoke briefly of the aims and objectives of the Girl Reserves. The girls sang their song "Follow the Gleam." The Rev. D. L. Woodward led the people in prayer of dedication, and the assembled people sang "America, the Beautiful." The exercises were brought to a close by the Rev. Atkins, who pronounced the benediction.

Michigan, was used for charitable purposes. Also, he told about the new Masonic Home now under construction at Alma, Michigan, to be completed within the next year and a half at a cost of three quarters of a million dollars. This will be a modern fire-proof structure, with every modern convenience for the comfort of its guests. Plans for the future include donation and endowment funds; which will be used for the care and education of Masonic homeless children. With a definite plan now operating the C. M. Masonry is assured that the future progress of Michigan Masonry was firmly established.

Old Bible Used
The Birmingham degree team exemplified the Third Degree before a group of honored guests, visitors, and members in a very impressive manner. The bible used to obligate both candidates, was the same one used at the first meeting of the Lodge, Apr. 25, 1850.

F. Homer Newton then gave a very instructive description of the first three degrees in Masonry.

This brought to a close the most instructive and interesting meeting ever held by the Birmingham lodge.

In addition to Mr. Bingham and Mr. Bristol, other life members present were: Walter North in 1871; Samuel Mills in 1874 and William Hunt in 1888.

Other past masters present were: Daniel M. Johnson—1892-99-1900, 1908; Will W. Masters—1903-1904-1906; Chas. J. Shain—1909, 1910; Herman C. Hendrickson—1912; Maurice R. Blair—1914; Percy Parmenter—1915; John M. Raitner—1916, 1919; Roy E. Brown—1920; Clair W. Haven—1921; Chas. A. Bingham—1923; Harris A. Laidley—1916, 1919; Roy E. Brown—1920; Clair W. Haven—1921; Chas. A. Bingham—1923; J. O. Clellan—1924; Chas. H. Wood—1925; Ralph Bricker—1929.

JR. TEAMS BEGIN SCHEDULE FRIDAY

Adams Plays Tact At Fensdale; Baldwin Juniors Meet Royal Oak

The Adams and the Baldwin Junior High School baseball teams will undergo final workouts at Springdale Park today in preparation for the opening games of the season tomorrow. The Adams team clashes with Tact of Fensdale at Fensdale and the Baldwin team meets the Acorn Juniors at Springdale.

Coach Ernest Engel of the Baldwin and Coach Donald Joy of the Adams are undecided about the starting lineup. Coach Engel lost two pitchers through ineptness. Coach Engel hopes to develop a team that will make a good showing in the Little Six League of which both the Adams and Baldwin teams are members.

Coach Joy also was unable to name the men that will start the game tomorrow at Fensdale. Freddie Schwarz, veteran pitcher from last year, has been changed to short stop. He may, however, be used as a relief hurler. Allyn Brown probably will start the game as pitcher and either Edling or Boynton will play behind the bat. The infield lineup up will be: George C. Wingerd, Stormfells and DeBeaulieu.

You will want a Home...Just like the Homes they're Building in Franklin Village

THINGS are moving fast in Franklin Village.

Were you one last Spring? Come out now and see what a difference one year has made.

More than one new home will show you how rapidly and how faithfully Franklin Village is fulfilling its destiny.

Here is a dear little cottage all spotless white upon a fair green slope... a dream come true to those who dwell inside.

Here is a stately colonial home from whose columned porch master and mistress watch the completion of their garden, sun pond and swimming pool.

There is another charming home, over whose lawns youngsters scamper happy as the larks that are lingering across the way.

Yonder rising struts and girders foretell still another home that will house its owners by midsummer.

Yes, things are moving fast in Franklin Village!

And why not? Everybody knows about Franklin Village now. Everyone is talking about it. Practically all agree that it is the most inviting suburban home site that all the north section offers... the only one of such advantages available at such price!

Drive out and visit the lovely little "Town That Time Forgot." See for yourself how attractively it nestles in its valley. Taste for yourself its restful charm. Stand on its hills, wander among its trees. Study these homes that have risen here and consider what manner of folk have built them.

Then you'll want a home just like the homes they're building in Franklin Village.
