JUDGES CHECK FIRE ESSAYS

School Children's Efforts Being Studied For Fire Prevention Prizes

Essays written by public school children recently in connection with Fire Prevention Week are now being checked and judged. The themes that have been handed into the board of judges constitute the best of the group of essays from each village school. Some of the students in grades 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, who were eligible for the event, have chosen unique topics for their themes. "Story of a Fire Alarm", "Fire Prevention at Home", "How Carelessness Causes Forest Fires", "Nature's Bidding", "A Result of Over-Confidence", "Precautions to be Taken When Dry-Cleaning", and "It" are some of the titles of the essays.

John H. E. Howarth, realtor & insurance agent, George R. Averill, publisher of the Eccentric, and Clarence Wiest, superintendent of schools, will be the judges. The winners of the contest will be announced soon. The Eccentric together with their winning essays.

DR. W. O. STEVENS TO GIVE TALK

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association will be held at the Barnum school Thursday afternoon, Nov. 20, featuring a talk by Dr. W. O. Stevens, headmaster of Cranbrook school, on the topic "The Normal Child, Educationally." Before the line of talk the group will have an opportunity at 2 o'clock to view the art exhibit of reproductions from the originals of old masters being held the week of Nov. 17-21 at the Barnum school. After the group has seen the art exhibit talk will be served in the school. Dr. Stevens' talk will begin at 4 p. m.

FINE ASSEMBLY PROGRAM GIVEN

Baldwin Students Cheer Junior Class Performances On Friday

Novelty stunts and a one-act play combined to give the students of Baldwin high school the best assembly program of the year Friday afternoon. The program was conducted in the school auditorium in charge of the Junior class whose dividers are Miss Vida McGiffin, Miss Ruth Hull, and Miss Emily Walker. Dervald Harris is president of the 11-A class and Stuart Thomson is the "B" proxy.

The Baldwin high school assembly, under the direction of Bob Gillespie, opened the program with a march number. The master of ceremonies, Donald Parry, introduced the "Tichy Foot Three," a collegiate trio composed of three students, Richard Ellerby, Gilbert Hopper, strutting the "uke," and Neil Welch.

The next "hit" was the appearance of John Pepperell and Ward Conwell. "Pop," a cartoonist, gave some fine caricatures and caricatures of prominent students and faculty members, which brought enthusiastic applause from the student body. Miss Marjorie Kidder entertained the audience with several dances.

After a brief intermission a three-act play was given by five Junior girls, Roxann Lambe, Lucille Lowman, Lois Otterman, Betty Erwin, and Eleanor Wasey. The play centered about the kidnapping of the heroine, Betty Erwin, by the villain, Lucille Lowman. In the end the hero, Eleanor Wasey, rescued her long lost sweetheart and put an end to the terrorism wrought by the kidnapers. The actors in the play made up the dialogue as the play progressed.

Miss Brunstedt Announces Names Of Students In "Belle Of Bagdad"

The operetta leads for the annual senior opera, "The Belle of Bagdad" to be presented in the Baldwin high school auditorium in February, have been announced by Miss Mae Brunstedt, director of vocal music. Miss Evangeline Purcell and Principal Melvin C. Hart assisted in making the selections after tryouts were conducted. An Oriental setting, with scenery made especially for the production will furnish a suitable background for the wealth of talented students.

Constance Cross will fill the role of Mrs. J. Horace McCann, the new American consul in Bagdad. Shirley Brown will take the part of her daughter, Elsie McCann. A friend of Elsie, Anne Blawell, will be portrayed by Mary Louise Johns. "The dear old Englishman" from London, will be portrayed by Neil Welch. Mary Clara Starr, will be the dancer, Zelinda. Hassan el Carb, the Caliph of Bagdad, will be enacted by David Curry, and the roles of his daughters, Rose, and Annie, will be taken by Emma Green and Jean Deer, respectively. Walter Maximoff, the burly prefect of police, will have the stage name of Ali Ben Mustapha. Helen Strand, the favorite daughter of the Caliph, Jewel, will be one of the leads. An enterprising airplane mechanic, "Bob Ballentine," will be Richard Ellerby. Gilbert Hopper, as Bill Blake, will be Bob's friend and companion. Henrietta Wisnietz is a romantic spinster whose portrayal will be undertaken by Ruth Pratt. Joe Maunders will be the big man from the Super-Supreme Film Co., as Dick Taylor.

STUDENT COUNCIL GETS SUGGESTIONS

Discusses Law Procedure; Hart Suggests Cheering Section For Jr. High

Parliamentary law procedure was discussed by members of the Baldwin Junior high school student council at their meeting held Thursday afternoon. The first part of the meeting also was spent in discussing generally the student suggestions that were found in the student council suggestion boxes last week.

Most of the student opinions centered about the question of allowing students to vote in the coming student council election even if they have not yet paid their class dues. The annual election will be held the latter part of this semester in January. The Baldwin high student council will vote on this issue on the occasion of their next meeting to be held Thursday, Nov. 20.

Melvin C. Hart, principal of Baldwin High School, discussed the organizing of a cheering section composed of Junior High School students. The plan was made at Baldwin high to organize a cheering section and this group will attend the football game with Hazel Park tomorrow to compete with cheering sections from the other two Birmingham Junior High Schools, Barnum and Adams. A prize will be awarded to the best representative of the Junior High school cheering section.

TREASURE HUNT WON BY JOHNSTON

Annual Hi-Y, Girl Reserves Contest Ends At Community House

High Johnston, a member of the Baldwin Hi-Y group, won the annual treasure hunt held Friday evening contested jointly by the Baldwin high school Hi-Y reserves and the Hi-Y. The party started from the Community House at 7:30 in the evening and the chase also ended there about 9:30.

The hunt led the group of 50 members, over approximately five miles of Birmingham territory. When the stragglers finally gathered at the community house supper was served and later dancing, even for those members who were lame from the after-effects of the treasure hunt, took place.

The advisers of the Girl Reserves group who sponsored the evening's entertainment, are Miss Emily Walker, Mrs. Emily Elocok, and Miss Eleanor Miller. Franklin Whitney was the Hi-Y adviser. Genevieve Upper is president of the Girl Reserves and Gilbert Hopper is president of the Baldwin Hi-Y group.

SCHOOL NOTES

Barnum school students in the Junior High school have elected officers and an adviser for the Junior High school student council. To present the group with the help of their adviser is working on the framing of a constitution, by-laws.

The officers are: Robert Mix, president; Lew Churchill, vice-president; Francis Allen, secretary; Dorothy Ward, treasurer; Miss Winifred Evers, adviser.

Chief Clearsky, an Indian chief and a graduate of Carlisle University, gave an interesting talk to more than 300 Barnum school children in a program held Friday afternoon in the Barnum school auditorium. Chief Clearsky, told the students much concerning the Indian lore and customs. He is chief of six Iroquois tribes, that are located at various points in the United States and Canada.

A yell team, to compete at the Barnum school, will be well teamed from Adams and Baldwin Junior high schools, has been selected to represent the Barnum Junior high school, according to H. D. Crull, principal. The team selected to compete are: William Gail, Richard Gibbins, Betty Campbell, and Christine Vanderwater.

A science club has been organized at Barnum school under the direction of Miss Josephine Ford, science instructor. The club met Friday to discuss the topic "R-100." Betty Campbell is president of the organization; Richard Painter, secretary and treasurer; William Gail, publicity manager, and Bennett Root, program director.
