

GOLD TO GO LECTURE DEC. 3

Antarctic Wastes Are Not Colorless, Explorer Declares

The popular belief that the Antarctic is a region of dazzling white unrelieved by any color is a misconception, according to Dr. Lawrence Gould, second in command of the Byrd Expedition, who will give his interesting lecture, "With Byrd to the Bottom of the World," in the Baldwin High School auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 3.

The Antarctic is alive with color," says Dr. Gould, "but it is color in a new sense of the word. It is impossible to explain it to anyone who has not seen it. All the shades of the rainbow are reflected in a manner that is unbelievably gorgeous. At times the air seems to be a violet or red mist and the sunsets defy description."

To Show Pictures
Dr. Gould is an expert photographer, and he has captured with his camera some of the glorious color effects. He has had slides made from these photographs which he will show in connection with his lecture. These color slides give a new and vivid impression of Antarctic beauties in addition to the conventional motion pictures which do not duplicate any shown before.

Approximately half the tickets for the lecture have been issued so far, according to members of the district committee. Tickets are on sale by Birmingham Boy Scout, members of the Junior Washington Group at Baldwin High School, and at Shain's Drug Store.

Patronesses for the event are: Mrs. W. O. Stevens, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. W. D. Thompson, Mrs. T. R. Donovan, Mrs. George F. Hendrie, Mrs. William Lerchen, Mrs. Frank Shuel, Mrs. James Vermer, Mrs. Matthew Whittlesey, Mrs. James Martindale, Mrs. Shanon Wright, Mrs. R. H. Mann and Mrs. J. F. Wenz.

LEGION MEET DEC. 3

Members of the American Legion who are conducting a drive for members will meet at a dinner at the Bloomfield Township Park at 6:30 p. m. Dec. 3, instead of on Dec. 10 as was announced last week. The facilities of the township clubhouse could not be obtained for that evening. Legion officials announce, following the dinner-meeting, it is expected some of the members will attend the lecture in the Baldwin High School to be given by Dr. Lawrence Gould, second in command of the Byrd Expedition to the South Pole.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

"Let never day nor night unhallo'd pass,
But still remember what the Lord hath done."
More than three centuries ago Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony appointed a day for public praise and prayer. Since that time Thanksgiving day has most properly become a national institution. One day of all the year is little enough to us, without distinction of race or creed to unite with the peoples of every other state in giving reverent heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for all of His mercies and blessings.

We have passed through a year of business and industrial stagnation with its attendant discomforts but out of it should come a manifest spiritual strengthening. We have many problems to solve but the good sense of the American people has always been equal to the solution. Every one of us is charged with a civic obligation of how we can best serve and promote greater markets for our agricultural products.

Our achievements of the past provide cheer and inspiration with which to look hopefully to the future. Above all the vicissitudes there exists a confidence that, having earnestly dedicated ourselves to the task, we shall build a better and more prosperous state and nation.

It is, therefore, eminently fitting that Thursday, Nov. 27, shall be set aside as a special day for Thanksgiving, a day for all the people of this Commonwealth to observe in thanksgiving and prayer that our glorious nation, under the wise direction of our President, may go forward unswervingly as the leader of all the world.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this seventeenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-fourth.

FRED W. GREEN,
Governor.

"Little Log Chapel" To Be Scene Of Steck-Stillman Nuptials Tomorrow

The "Little Log Chapel," a historic and romantic spot at Notre Dame University, will be the scene of the wedding of Miss Clara Steck, of South Bend, Ind., to Mr. Harry B. Stillman, of Birmingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stillman, of Lincoln avenue.

The Rev. John O'Hara will officiate at the ceremony, which will be witnessed only by members of the family and a few intimate friends. Attendants will be the bride's sister, Mrs. Betty Ross, of Collinsville, Ind., and Mrs. William Livingston, of Greenwood avenue, Birmingham.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast for 25 guests will be served at the Hotel LaSalle, in South Bend. The couple will honeymoon in Chicago and will later be at home at 426 Lincoln avenue, Birmingham.

Miss Steck is a graduate of Western State Normal College, at Kalamazoo, and of Madam Blakely's Teachers' College, at Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Stillman is a graduate of Notre Dame University with the class of 1925 and is employed with the General Motors Truck Co., in Pontiac. He has resided in Birmingham with his parents for two years.

During the past week, Miss Steck has been extensively entertained as the house guest of Mr.

Stillman's sister, Mrs. Jack Leary, of Ravine road. Last Thursday, Mrs. Livingston was hostess at a luncheon given by the Fox and Hounds Inn for Miss Steck. Besides Miss Steck, guests were Mrs. B. Stillman, of Birmingham, Mrs. Joseph Curley, Mrs. Letoy Fraick, Miss Glen Rogers, Miss Jane Wright, Mrs. Robert Daisley, and Mrs. Leary.

Mrs. Stillman entertained at a dinner Sunday evening for her son and future daughter-in-law. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hopps, Mr. and Mrs. Leary, Miss Rogers, Mr. Volney Harmon, and Mr. William Healy, of Chicago.

Miss Steck was honored Tuesday at a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Leary, at which the guests were Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Harold Leonard, of Detroit, Mrs. William R. Ford, of Detroit; Mrs. Livingston; Mr. Howard A. Fisher, of Palmer Woods; Mrs. Charles J. Leary, of Highland Park; Mr. Allen Devine, of Chicago Park, and Mrs. Stillman.

Birmingham residents who are motoring to South Bend for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Stillman, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Leary.

The Two Johnnies In Titan Grid Game

When Georgetown University meets the Titans in the University of Detroit stadium Saturday afternoon, the two outstanding threats in the Georgetown backfield will be John Scaldi, quarterback, and John Bozek, halfback. For two seasons now the two Johnnies have each been Johnnies-on-the-spot whenever an emergency arose for Georgetown. In the Georgetown-Boston College game this year Bozek ran 80 yards for the lone touchdown. Against Michigan State Scaldi brought Georgetown victory with his two long gallops.

Last year Scaldi and Bozek collaborated in the downfall of New York University. In 1928 it is recalled that Bozek's unexpected run from punt formation started the tide that submerged West Virginia.

E. H. JEWETT FUNERAL HELD

Services Conducted At Hills Home For Prominent Businessman

Edward H. Jewett, for more than 25 years a prominent figure in Detroit's business life, died at his winter home at Melbourne, Fla., Saturday morning after a 10-day illness. Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. yesterday from his residence on Lone Pine road, Bloomfield Hills. He was 56 years old.

Mr. Jewett was born on Apr. 26, 1874 at Elmira, N. Y., the son of Arthur LeRoy Jewett, a manufacturer, and Gertrude Malford Jewett. In his boyhood he went to Chicago with his parents. He was educated at Notre Dame University at South Bend, Ind., in 1893 and came to Detroit.

His brother, Harry M. Jewett, he entered the coal business with the firm of Jewett, Bigelow and Brooks. Until 1921 he continued in this business and then organized the Jewett Radio and Phonograph Co., which he operated in 1925. He was also one of the organizers of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co.

Included among the clubs of which Mr. Jewett was a member are the Detroit Club, the Bloomfield Hills Country Club and the Detroit Athletic Club. Since 1925 he divided his time between his Melbourne home and his residence in Bloomfield Hills.

Besides Mrs. Jewett he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Dan Davis, his mother, Mrs. Gertrude M. Jewett, and his brother, Harry M. Jewett, former president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co.

RECTOR TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Need For Constant Attitude Of Thankfulness, Rev. Forsyth Says

Thanksgiving Day, unless it serves to remind a person of the necessity for continuing the attitude of thankfulness throughout the remainder of the year, is only a vain ceremony, in the opinion of Rev. Warner L. Forsyth, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, who addressed the Birmingham Rotary club Monday noon in the Community House. Rev. Forsyth, a Rotarian, spoke briefly, but to the point, upon the subject of "Thanksgiving."

"In the first place, I can't conceive of a Creator who would have any other thought for his creation than a state of happiness," stated Rev. Forsyth. "To that end, if each of us will take the time to make a personal inventory of our possessions, our opportunities, our friendships, I am certain that we cannot be ungrateful. What we need is the development of a constant attitude of mind of thankfulness toward life in general. We must learn that happiness can be ours only when we seek to make others happy; and we shall surely find, in our search for happiness, that true happiness includes a tremendous amount of thankfulness."

Rev. Forsyth referred to the business depression as "weighted with gloom, first an individual gloom, then a corporate gloom, until it has enveloped a whole world." He closed his talk by saying that "I dare you to go back to your offices, your stores, and write down the things you possess, and then refuse to assume a happier attitude of mind. That kind of mind reveals the greatest hope—the sort of heart we need every day in the year."

Wollering Chosen Hudson Director

William J. McAnaney, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, announces the appointment of Max F. Wollering as manufacturing director. Wollering has established an enviable reputation as an exceptionally able manufacturing executive in important positions with several of the largest and most successful production plants in the world, specializing in automobile machinery and production line efficiency.

His most recent connection was with the Studebaker Corporation, where successive promotions carried him to the position of vice-president in charge of manufacturing.

SOCIETY HEARS GABRILOWITSH IN COMMUNITY HOUSE RECITAL

Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills society turned out en masse last evening for the recital given at the Community House by Oshin Gabrielowitch. The affair was sponsored by the Thursday Musical Society and was given by Raymond Decker, chairman of arrangements.

Several persons took advantage of the opportunity afforded by the concert to entertain at dinner parties previously, later taking their guests to the concert. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Hendrie honored Miss Dorothy Detzer, their house-guest at a dinner in their home on Willets street, into which they have just moved for the winter.

Guests were Miss Detzer, Rev. Warner Forsyth and Mrs. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Gray, Mrs. Frederick H. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. William A. McGraw, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Farragut, Mrs. Van Arsdale, Miss Sarah Hendrie, Miss Margaret Hendrie, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Shain, Mrs. Francis Duffield, Miss Susan Duffield, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frost, Miss Marguerite Murphy, Mr. Edward Kent, and Dr. and Mrs. William O. Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scripps Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wallace, and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Dostoyan also entertained at dinners before the concert.

The American Scene, edited by Barrett H. Clark. This is a collection of American plays, which aims to give some conception of the people living in different parts of the United States. There are plays of New England, plays of California, plays about negroes, miners, policemen, farmers, etc.

Among the authors are familiar names like Eugene O'Neill, Theodore Dreiser, Paul Green and Booth Tarkington.

The Great Crusade and After, by Preston W. Slosson, A history of America since 1914 by a professor of history in the University of Michigan.

Turkey Faces West, by Halide Edis. A view of recent changes and their origin by a Turkish woman of intelligence and experience.

Madame De Maintenon, by Maude Crutwell. The story of "that extraordinary woman" who was born in prison, educated in a convent and elevated to be the wife of Louis XIV of France.

Paris, by Raymond Decker. Many beautiful illustrations are in this book, six of them in color.

Intelligent Philanthropy, edited by Ellsworth Farns and others. The subject is attacked from many sides and by many men. The legal aspects are presented by a professor at law for the University of Chicago. The economic point of view is given by a professor in California, the sociological by Prof. Ross, of Wisconsin, the biological by Prof. Jennings, of Johns Hopkins. Other phases are discussed by equally well-informed men.
