Professor Talks To Garden Club

A talk on "How Climatic Conditions Affect Our Gardens" was given by Prof. Aubrey Peald, of the University of Michigan, at the home of Mrs. William D. Thompson to the members of the Bloomfield Hills unit of the National Farm and Garden Club, gathered for their monthly meeting. Professor Peald stressed the necessity of planting seasonably, and told of the care which must be given a garden in the winter. A general discussion about preparing the garden for the winter followed.

Miss Adelle Sly, the vice-president, presided at the business meeting. Following the talk, tea was served, and Mrs. T. R. Donovan and Mrs. William G. Lerchen presided. Professor Peald was entertained at dinner in the evening by Dr. and Mrs. Campbell Harvey of Pontiac.
