HORSE SHOW PRIZES GIVEN

Judges Announce Winners At Hunter-Breeders' Contests

Winning horses in the Hunter-Breeders' show at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club were announced as follows by the judges, Mr. O'Malley Knoch of New York City, last Saturday afternoon:

Class No. 1 was a class of thoroughbred brood mares, and was won by French Garters, owned by C. H. Ainsworth. Second and third places went to two horses owned by M. Higbie, named Clarinet and Xixia. Second class, consisting of foals of 1930, was won by two entries, Mr. Higbie and the one of Mr. Fred G. Murphy, in first, second and third places, respectively.

In the Hickory class, for other than thoroughbred brood mares, "The Girl," owned by Miss Eileen Stae, won first honors; Ganamette, owned by Mr. Bernard E. Hoppet, was second; and Bellamury, owned by Dr. Fred G. Murphy, was third. The best yearlings, entered in the fourth class, were an entry by Mrs. J. A. Blackwood; Firebug, owned by the Hillwood Stables of E. P. Hammond; and another entry by Mrs. Blackwood. Sweet Cookie, owned by Mrs. Higbie, was first in a class of two-year-olds, with Lady Foyle, owned by William Reeve Clark, and Troy Maid, owned by Ralph Steppel, trailing in second and third places, respectively.

Wins Murphy Cup

Mrs. Blackwood's yearling which won in class No. 4, was again victorious in class No. 6, winning the Murphy Cup for three-year-olds and under. Mrs. Higbie's Sweet Cookie was second, and Mrs. Higbie's prize winner in class No. 2 was third. A class for horses "suitable to become hunters" was next in order. Winners here were Bird in Hand, of Mr. Hammond's Hillwood Stables; Castillon, owned by Miss Viola Hammond; and Mrs. Higbie's Sweet Cookie.

The next event was for the boys and girls, the class being split in two for groups of both older and younger children. In class A, Miss Susan Briggs rode to victory on Val Jean, a horse belonging to the Walbril Hall stable; Walter O. Briggs, Mrs. Higbie's horse, Fine Gold, ridden by her daughter, was judged second; and Rosebud, owned by the Hillwood Stables, was judged third. In class B, Miss Jean Shuell and Cherio captured first prize. Laetitia, owned and ridden by Edward Lerchen, placed second; and Patches, belonging to Walbril Hall Stables, and ridden

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

Charles J. Shain, Birmingham druggist: "The trend of taxation is going toward the few in this country. I think. The sympathy being created by the elements that make a government responsible for everybody's condition is but the forerunner of a tax system that will weigh heavily upon the learned incomes. Intelligent directions toward a solution of the unemployment problem is the only remedy worth while."

by Miss Janey Briggs, placed third. Thirty entries competed for the open jump trophy and second and third place ribbons. The horses were shown over eight to four feet high, with performance only counting. Greenleaf, the winner of the trophy, Hercules, of Mrs. Dee Furey Mott, was second, and Sir Percy of Royal L. Polk, Jr., was third.

The last event, called hunter hacks, also attracted a large entry list. Hickory Dickory, of Mrs. Sherman L. Depew, won the trophy. Second and third place winners were first-class winners, Florence Stae, and Bachelor, of C. H. Oshei. Horses in this event were shown at walk, trot, and canter. Conformation and manners counted 50 per cent; way of going, 30 per cent.

LANDSCAPE PRIZE WINNERS NAMED

Mr. and Mrs. Thorn Smith Win First Honors In Contest

Prize-winners in the "grounded beautiful" contest, held for the second consecutive season in Bloomfield Village under the auspices of the Judson Bradway Co., were announced yesterday as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Thorn Smith, of Cranbrook road, first; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Harris, of Gregory road, second; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Heilmiller, of Overhill road, third; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. W. Williamsbury road, fourth.

Nearly all the residents of Bloomfield Village entered the contest, according to Douglas Roney, assistant to Mr. Bradway. The garden was open Sept. 10 largely on a basis of care shown, neatness, and development of the lot. Winners will receive announcements of their prizes today.

Judges of the contest, selected by Rolla J. Corryell, were: Mr. W. D. Thompson and Mrs. John T. Shaw, prominent members of the Bloomfield Hills unit of the National Farm and Garden Club, and C. DeForest Platt, landscape architect of Bloomfield Hills.

Four Motorists Pay Court Fines

Four reckless drivers and speeders paid $60 in fines in Justice Floyd S. Buck's court on Monday and Tuesday. They are: Abraham J. Gurwin, 2753 Tuxedo avenue, Highland Park; speeding in the village, $10; George Lacks, 1602 Solty avenue, Flint, speeding in the village, $10; Gaylord W. Guller, 1712 1/2 Madison road, Grosse Pointe, speeding in the village, $10; and Arnold McConnell, 1474 Erie avenue, Detroit, reckless driving in Bloomfield Hills, $25.

McConnell was coming south on Woodward avenue, and was cited on the ground of speeding that he could not stop for the red light signal at the bottom of the Woodward Lake road, officers say. When he saw Sgt. Delos Anderson start after him, he endeavored to escape by turning in a nearby service station, Anderson reported.

CELEBRATE SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Celebrating their sixtieth anniversary of married life, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Bartlett, of Fort Oden, Fla., were tendered a dinner party by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cooper, whom they were visiting. Among the guests were Mrs. Anne Bartlett of Birmingham, Mrs. Bartlett's sister, who attended the wedding in Royal Oak 60 years ago.

Two other Birmingham residents who were present at the wedding, but were unable to attend the anniversary dinner, were Mr. Cassius Crawford, who was best man, and William Elwood, brother of Mrs. Bartlett. Mrs. Heth, before returning to Birmingham is visiting relatives in Astoria, and Mrs. E. J. Barney, Fairport Lakes, is in St. Willis. Berneise, who plays Benj. Godard, and Nocturne II. Opu, a Chopin. The Cranbrook School Hymn Tune of "Pro Patria."

SEVERELY SEEN FOR HOUSING

Lumber Co. Representative Tells Exchange of Problem's Settlement

Through the co-operation of finance companies, bankers and building supply agencies, and changes in the mortgage foreclosure laws, a solution to the present housing problem can be attained, William Glass, of the Brann Lumber Co., told members of the Birmingham Exchange Club at their regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Community House.

Because of the rapid growth of the metropolitan area and the ever-soaring price of credit and the over-sold real estate market which resulted, the housing problem today has become one of the most serious economic problems the country faces today, Mr. Glass said.

"Twenty years ago," he said, "when the growth of Detroit started on its rapid progress, real estate men found it difficult to obtain finances and outside investment companies refused to invest in because they considered Detroit a boom town and it grew a mushroom growth. The subscriber next became interested and soon the city was able to provide homes for the population."

Speculation Justified
Mr. Glass cited an experience of a Detroit outsider who purchased property on the west side of Detroit when the investment epidemic of real estate speculation was at its height. The speculation was justified because of the ever-rising growing populace and the abundance of easy money. The subscriber sold his property almost over night and was compelled either to purchase more land or retire from the market.

"However, the new development of property in the North Woodward area, but there are districts out in West Warren avenue in Detroit which will never be worth the price for which they were sold," he declared.

Mr. Glass then discussed the complex problem that resulted from the construction of apartment houses that finally resulted in rental price cutting, fights for tenants and the failure of the owner to collect enough to meet his payments on his property. There was a time in the real estate and building growth when a man with $10,000 cash could finance a $1,000,000 proposition because credit was too easily obtainable, he said.

Men who produced the building materials also were partly responsible for the condition, he added. There is now a movement before the state legislature, however, he said, that may bring about a favorable change in the mortgage foreclosure laws that will benefit the owners and builders and prevent speculation in the building industry. The present economic depression has been brought about by the pressure of readjustment and the condition is largely a mental one, Mr. Glass said. "There are probably several thousand persons in Detroit today and perhaps 50 in Birmingham who would like to purchase new homes, and have the money to pay, but who fail to act because—well, because they are afraid something will happen if they lose their investment," he said.

GARDEN CLUBS MEET

The Bloomfield Hills unit of the National Farm and Garden Club will meet Monday in the morning at the adjoining estates of Mrs. Walter Morley and Mrs. Frank W. Shuell, on Lenox avenue.

The newly formed Birmingham unit of the National Farm and Garden Club will meet Monday in the Community House for organization and plans for the year.

Poor Financing may lead to disaster

Hymns To Be Sung At Baptist Church

Next Sunday the Community Church Service at the First Baptist Church will be designated as "Charles Wesley Night." This is the first of a series of Sunday evening musical services in honor of the greatest hymn writers of all ages. The life and works of one hymn writer will be discussed each Sunday night and his greatest hymns and musical compositions will be sung by the congregation and the church choir.

This Sunday the brief story of Charles Wesley's life will be given by the pastor, Rev. David Leon Woodward. Mr. Frederick A. Protheroe will lead the congregation in the singing of Wesley's greatest hymns. The church choir will also select its special numbers from Wesley's best musical compositions.

The regular service of the evening will be given by Rev. Woodward. He will give the second of the sermons on "The Significant Issues of Our Day—"The Message of the Movies." The public is invited.

Pianist Will Open Music Studio Here

Miss Virginia Deane, Bachelor of Music and a member of the faculty of the District Institute of Musical Art, will open her Birmingham studio at 200 North Woodward avenue, Friday, Sept. 19. She has been an instructor in piano music in Detroit, has largely been gained from instruction under Mrs. Margaret Manbeck, accompanist of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Miss Deane has been a member of the faculty of the Detroit Institute of Art for the past eight years.

Nursery School Opened Sept. 16

The Birmingham School of Childhood opened its Fall term Sept. 16 for children of nursery school and kindergarten age. Miss Georgia Barris, the director, has returned to Birmingham after having spent the summer in Essex, Conn., where she directed the nursery school and kindergarten group at Stratford, Conn. The children attending this camp were from the Church of the Redeemer. The teachers at the camp, Miss Barris, and Miss Mary Ann Barris, were trained in the University of Pennsylvania.
