Owing to the popularity of the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club steeplechase, a sailing race will not be held next Saturday. There will be at least one, and perhaps two on Sunday, however, Mr. Frederick Strong, Jr., says. No formal races will be held after Sunday.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—
Eddie Edwards, local music teacher, and music director at the "Y" camp at Hale this past summer: "We have heard much about crippled children, and much has been done for them. There are such things as crippled characters, too, and one of the finest agencies to straighten out such cases is the Y. M. C. A. I know from personal experience that the Y. M. C. A. helps all under whose influence they come."

SCOUT EVENTS

Dr. C. B. Lundy, of the Detroit Boy Scout Executive committee, will be the speaker at the October Boy Scout Court of Honor to be held at the Community House Friday evening, Oct. 24, it is announced today by Shelton F. Wright, chairman of the Court. Dr. Lundy's talk will be on "What the parent gets out of Scouting."

He has been actively associated with Scouting for 20 years, and has been on the executive council in Detroit for some time, having been at one time president.

A large number of awards will be made at this court, principally those earned in Scout camps during the summer months. All Scouts eligible to receive awards at high court of honor in Detroit will also be able to receive these awards here, according to R. L. Thompson, chairman of the Detroit camping committee. This is because parents of Scouts usually desire to be present and do not care to go to Detroit for the awards.

Monday, Oct. 13, has been set as the final date when all applications for awards must be in. Indoor test-camps at the Community House will be held Oct. 6 and 13. The outdoor camp will also be held on a special date, Saturday, Oct. 11. After these dates they will be held on the regular dates, indoors the first and third Mondays and outdoors the third Saturday.

Plans are nearly complete for the first mystery hike ever held in the Birmingham District of the Boy Scouts here, it is announced by officers of the district committee today. Oct. 25-26, Saturday and Sunday, have been set as the dates. The hike will be to an unknown destination, with Scouts stopping overnight and returning Sunday afternoon.
