HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
Chilled Pineapple Cocktail
Maryland Chicken Boiled Potatoes
Gravy
Cabbage Salad
Peach Meringue
Coffee

This is a guest dinner, possibly a Sunday dinner for six. The appetizer served before the meal is not so important as the meal itself. Various cocktails, tomato, fish, or a fruit cup are served as cold as a first course. Included in today's recipes is a recipe for pineapple cocktail which may be served at any season of the year.

Today's Recipes
Chilled Pineapple Cocktail—One pineapple, one cup sugar, one-half cup coconut, one-half cup orange juice, one-third cup apricot juice, one-third cup water. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes, cool and add fruit juices. Cut fresh pineapple cylinders, using an apple corer, put in glasses with coconut and cover with syrup. Chill. Canned pineapple may be used; if so, omit sugar.

Scalloped Potatoes
Add a few small servings of sliced ham and a cup (according to size of serving dish) of green beans to potatoes when scalloping. This is an exceptionally good picnic dish. If taken from the oven just before leaving and wrapped well it will stay hot for some time.

UNCLE SAM'S WIFE SAYS:
Probably fewer sandwiches would be discarded from children's lunch boxes if the bread were always of the best quality. Children will eat more bread if different kinds are served. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist or roll instead of a loaf, or cutting the sandwiches into fancy shapes with a cookie cutter, will increase interest in it. The change of flavor given by added raisins, dried currants, dates, or nut meats is another inducement to like the lunch bread.

Oysters are in season again. They are extremely valuable as a source of various minerals needed by the body. Like fresh fish, they supply iodine.

Here's a good September menu: corn soup, made from fresh corn cut from the cob; omelet with Spanish sauce, which contains tomatoes and peppers; rice, new yellow or white turnips; apple sauce from some of the windfalls, with cup cake.

Choose designs for children's clothes with ironing in mind whether you make the clothes yourself or buy them readymade. Fussy ruffles and queer-shaped parts take up the time of the laundress, and never look as well after washing and ironing as trim, smooth garments that are well-cut and made of interesting materials.

Tweed Weaves to Feature Fall Suits

WITH STYLES MORE FEMININE, HARRIET RECOMMENDS SPORTS TYPE SUITS AS FIRST CHOICE FOR AUTUMN WEAR

BY HARRIET
Stripes and checks will usher in the autumn days. Most of them are tweeds in a new, soft weave.

Browns, soft, rich bluish greens, black and white and all of the chut tones of red are very becoming.

For your first suit, you cannot go wrong picking a sports type. They are always good. And this winter, when most styles will be more feminine, there will be a certain zest in a tailored sports outfit.

Quite new is the sports suit with coat that comes clear down to the bottom of the hem. Such a coat can be used with other dresses to have a change of outfit.

So far as the dresses are concerned, there are several things to note. All are belted. Most of them have fullness in the skirts. The dress with a high top is newer and smarter than the one without.

One of the smartest outfits is a soft brown tweed, trimmed with a brown and yellow shepherd's plaid collar and lining. The coat is strictly tailored, with a few stitched darts at the waistline to ease it from being a straightline. It has a self-belt that fastens in front while the coat pulls over to the side.

Under this is a cute shepherd's plaid dress in the same colors, brown and yellow. It has a jaunty little bolero effect and its sleeves have deep cuffs coming out from under the rather flaring tops, like boleros themselves.

The skirts of this frock has a pleated waist all around. It is most decorative and gives a jaunty originality to the frock. It is belted in yellow.

A typical autumn sports hat is the brown brimmed hat, with facings of yellow and lining of the same. Chamois gloves and a brown purse are good with this suit.

Scalloped Potatoes
A small sports outfit for fall is the soft, brown tweed, left, trimmed with a collar of contrasting tweed. It has a self-belt fastening vertically. The coat has inverted pleats which flare toward the bottom to give fullness.

The collar is made in one with the front facings, and has a square little piece which curves upward, giving the appearance of an upturned collar. It is an interesting little touch, quite in keeping with the new mode that grows fanciful and coquettish.

The hat with this is of stitched down felt. Suede shoes complete the outfit. There is a belt of brown leather, but it may be belted with its own material if one is not quite so slender as she should be. A shiny belt would be likely to emphasize this.

KROGER STORES

ready with NEW 1930 PACK PEAS

In the fertile fields of Wisconsin are grown the sweet peas in the world. At harvest time the Kroger buyer is in Wisconsin making his selection of the "choicest" of the crop. His many years of experience enable him to skillfully select those peas that are best and most suited for canning. The "choicest" of the choice are harvested, sorted and packed into cans bearing the Kroger label. The picking and packing process is very rapid, none of the tenderest or the most delicate flavors of the peas is allowed to escape. In fact, less than one hour passes from the time they are picked until they are in the can. These delicious peas are now ready for you in Kroger Stores.
