Here's a bit of wholesome observation upon a emn subject by the natural red-checked, sincere-nded daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murl H. DeFoe, latter editor of the Charlotte Republican-Tribune. daughter, Rose, is attending Yale; recently she not to the Yale Hope Mission to hear an address "down and outern" by Dr. William Lyon Phelps, of Yales "biggest minds." This is what out to the Yale with the following conclu-nation.

wrote to her dad about, with the following conclusion:

"I go rambling on, but I do wish you could have here there tensingly when some of the fellow's stood up and gave their testimonal and praised God. For some reason this type of procedure has always appeared melodramatic, but consight the simple sincerity of it all, changed my whole attitude. It does seem as if mankind in general, keeps drifting further away from religion and it is a pirty that many more couldn't have listened in it at that meeting tonight, with one of the auttranding, men of the country proclaiming the contrast contrast

Resolution

It seemed to me that all the days I've known
Before me passed in word review has night.
It was a very strange and every sight.
Some days there were I quickly blushed to own
And wish the for their houst I might stone,
And some were so unsuffied and so bright
That I would fair have stryed! them in their fligh
To spend a little while with them alone.

It might have been a dream. I can not tell, But if it was, it served its purpose well. For I am now resolved forevermore. To be more heedful than I was before. And keep my days to spaties and so That I shall be repoised to call them
