GIRLS' SCHOOL HEAD IS CHOSEN

Dr. Katherine Rogers Adams To Direct Kingswood Board Announces

Dr. Katherine Rogers Adams, dean of the faculty of Mills College, principal of Kingswood School, Cranbrook, which will move into its new building, designed by Eiel Saarinen, next fall.

Dr. Adams was born in Philadelphia, the daughter of Dr. Charles T. Adams, an eminent surgeon. She was graduated from Wellesley in 1911, and for seven years taught Latin, English and history in high schools of New York and Connecticut.

Dr. Adams will spend some time at Kingswood this spring directing plans for the opening of the Cranbrook school and supervision of the school. The school, which will open in September, will have a faculty of 150, including 100 women and 50 men.

Dr. Adams has been a member and for two years chairman of the important committee of the National Association of University Women.

It not be better to get at the heart of the trouble, correct evil practice and save society the shame and stigma of such a revolting, senseless and inhuman practice?

Warden Lawes Statement

That the need is keen for remedy, that evils are heaped to be corrected, is conceded. But in capital punishment for crime there fails to show any warrant for any improvement. Listen to Warden Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing Prison in Saratoga, Oct. 15, 1927. He says: "From 1880 to 1927, 47 men and 10 women were committed to Sing Sing for execution. Of these 20 were electrocuted. Of the remainder 27 upon retrial had their sentences reversed, 30 were acquitted and 18 secured lesser degrees of punishment. The fact that 30 were declared innocent after having been declared guilty and sentenced to death, leaves one wondering how many of the 201 executed would also have been acquitted had they, too, had friends and money to have secured efficient legal counsel."

Of all the murders in America in 1927, only 10 were committed by persons against 20 percent of the other crimes. In other words, the typical murderer gives upon a case, which is being made a place for justice in a new judgment. One of the reasons of the low murder rate of England, and I believe it could be had by the municipality of our population.

Mr. Woodward, will be "The Guide Post to Life Everlasting."

Fourteen small boys and girls clad in white will lead the Easter morning procession at St. James Episcopal Church. The juvenile choir was organized by Mrs. F. W. Boynton of Dorchester road, and sponsored by the League of St. James Women. The children wearing white surcoats and red cassocks will proceed toward a miniature altar and choir stalls built for the occasion.

"Good News" will be the subject of the Easter sermon by the Rev. Leigh H. Hagie, minister of the Embury Methodist Episcopal Church. Four special musical numbers will also be given including "Christ of Old" by the girls' chorus, a soprano solo by Mrs. Arthur Kane, and a duet, "For Me," by Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Mahon Stevens.

Special music and an Easter sermon on "Walking With The Risen Christ" will be given by the Rev. Leigh H. Hagie, minister of the Embury Methodist Episcopal Church. The Lord's Supper will also be observed at the Easter morning service.
