CLUB SPONSORS CHARITY SHOWS

Goodfellows To Entertain Children, Stage New Year's Eve Benefit

Two shows, one a free performance for needy children, the other a benefit performance for charity purposes, have been planned for the holiday season by the Goodfellows Club in conjunction with the Birmingham Theater.

The free show for children will be a Christmas day matinee at which about 200 kiddies will be entertained, according to Joseph F. MacGregor, in charge of arrangements. Tickets will be given to each member of the club to be presented to poor children whose names appear on a selected list drawn up by the club, he said. The show will be a special filming of the great football picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

The second project planned by the Goodfellows Club is a midnight show at the Birmingham Theater on New Year's Eve. All proceeds will be turned over to the club's continuation fund.

The program, in charge of Mr. Holah, has not yet been completed, he said yesterday, although it will include a moving picture and a group of vaudeville skits furnished by local talent.

BIG AUDIENCE HEARS BROWN

discovery is being attested by recent conclusions of eminent scientists in various parts of the world. In her "scientific statement of being," written in 1870, Mrs. Eddy makes the following apparently revolutionary declaration, "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all" (Science and Health, p. 468). For years this fundamental statement was considered by a materialistic world to be absurd and illogical. Notwithstanding, this premise has repeatedly been demonstrated to be true by healing the sick by its means, ever since its utterance by Mrs. Eddy. Now as a corroboration of this epoch-making statement, "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation," I ask you to consider the following declaration by an eminent authority of today. Borden P. Bowne, professor of philosophy in Boston University, who writes in his book, "Metaphysics, A Study in First Principles": "All things depend in some way upon one basal being which alone is self-existent. The infinite must be viewed as the sole and determining ground of the system of things. It is the source of all law, of all manifestation in the system."

It is interesting to note that the major trend of the most recent conclusions is toward the endorsement of Mrs. Eddy's discovery of a universe which is an emanation of God, infinite Mind. To illustrate: consider Mrs. Eddy's discovery of the perfect creation as related in the first chapter of Genesis, and her logical deduction that all of God's ideas are spiritual, indestructible, and created after their kind. Evolution, of course, has repudiated the Scriptural theory and in so doing has wrought much havoc in the religious beliefs of mankind. Now in support of Mrs. Eddy's discovery comes Henry Fairfield Osborn, a biologist known on both sides of the Atlantic, who declares that there is no evidence that men came from apes or from a lower order of creation.

You are many of you aware, doubtless, of the declaration of Dr. Austin H. Clark, biologist of the United States National Museum. In speaking of the origin of animal life in general and of man-kind in particular, he writes: "There is not the slightest evidence that any of the major groups arose from any other group . . . appearing, therefore, as a special and distinct creation."

The importance of Mrs. Eddy's discovery of the true spiritual creation is illustrated in the experience of a friend of mine who said that one day, a number of years ago, a fellow shopmate, for no apparent reason, began to tell him of Mrs. Eddy's discovery of the perfect creation, as recorded in the first chapter of Genesis. He said that as he listened to the story he was instantly healed of the desire for tobacco, which was so intense that he often arose at midnight to light his pipe; he also said that he lost his desire for alcoholic drinks at the same time. He was so surprised at this that he went home and told his wife, who immediately declared that a story so potent must be a true story, and thereupon, they began the study of Christian Science.

As to Mrs. Eddy's discovery concerning the mental cause and cure of disease, it may be said that a tree is known by its fruits. Of these fruits the following expert opinion will be of great interest.

Religion is also adding its testimony through the report of a committee to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which declared, "Christian healing has passed beyond the stage of experiment and its value cannot be questioned." The conclusions of this committee were drawn after six years of study, and the report asks the General Convention to "thankfully recognize the deepening of the spiritual life of the church which has come through the growing recognition of the healing power of God."

Facts are stubborn things, and when they confront theories the latter are immediately either established or extinguished. This point is shown in the story of a well-known professor, who had been working for some time on a thesis concerning some particular species of fish, in which he proved to his satisfaction that this particular species could not attain beyond a certain size and weight. He had just put the finishing touches on his essay when a knock came at the door. Upon opening the door he found a neighbor, who had just returned from a fishing trip, and who presented him with one of that very species, far exceeding in size and weight the limit established by the professor. Mournfully, the professor gazed, first at the fish, then at the man, and said, "The theory of a lifetime, kicked to death by a single fact!"

A few moments ago I told you of the beautiful tribute paid Mrs. Eddy by the English introducer who, in speaking of the Bible, said, "And America gave us its Key." Upon this gift, Mrs. Eddy's Key, rests the salvation of the race. How comforting to realize that only two books are necessary for salvation, the Bible and Science and Health, its Key. How it simplifies the way! I recall a number of years ago a friend said to me, "Why do you not study Socrates, Plato, and other great philosophers?" And I recall the satisfaction it gave me to be able to reply, What these worthies knew in part and dimly discerned, Christ Jesus knew in its entirety.

Go home tonight with the conviction that in truth you are now a perfect child of God, and that through the operation of Christian Science you will be enabled to prove it by manifesting better health, higher standards, and increased prosperity. Do not forget that if you so desire, it is possible to attain and enjoy these wonderful blessings in this present time. It is for you to decide.

In this endeavor do not be sidetracked by arguments of the carnal mind; do not waste any time as to how your misfortunes may have come about. Rejoice in the fact that there is now available a demonstrable Science which will meet your every need. "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live."

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

Fire Chief Vernon Griffith, chairman of the Goodfellows Club: "Many persons seem to have the impression that only those postal employes who are letter carriers are members of the Goodfellows Club. This is incorrect, since all postoffice employes, just as all police and fire department employes, are members of the club."

SUZANNE HOUSE UNHURT IN CRASH

Bloomfield Hills Society Girl Is Driver As Two Women Are Injured

Miss Suzanne Louise House, daughter of George Worthington House, Lone Pine road, and prominent in Bloomfield Hills social circles, escaped injury in an automobile collision at the corner of Woodward avenue and Twelve Mile road last Thursday in which two women, a mother and daughter, were badly hurt.

Miss House was the driver of a car which collided with a second machine driven by Miss Grace Murdock, 20 years old, of 11 Moss avenue, Highland Park. Miss Murdock suffered severe scalp lacerations and concussion of the brain. Her mother, Mrs. Ella Murdock, received contusions about the hips and abdomen.

Both women were removed to Royal Oak Private Hospital where attaches yesterday said they were recovering rapidly and were completely out of danger.

Miss House's companion, George Harrison Phelps, 1040 Bishop road, Grosse Pointe Park, son of George Harrison Phelps, advertising agency head, also escaped injury. Both cars were badly damaged.

Miss House was not held. Police said both cars were travelling south and that the crash occurred when Miss Murdock's car stopped to make a left turn onto Twelve mile road and was struck by Miss House's machine.

Do you think $8.50 is Too Much to School a Child?

HAT IS approximately what it costs for instruction and supplies for one child for one month in the Birmingham Public Schools.

Everyone would pay it gladly, as tuition, to provide their child with an education.

Yet, since these are public schools, this money is paid in the form of taxes instead of in the form of tuition. Forty-eight per cent of your winter tax is used to support the schools.

This year, for reasons we all know, a large part of our taxes may not be paid. Therefore, a large part of our school service may have to be cut.

To prevent this, pay your taxes. If this is too much of a burden at this time, then buy school scrip—as much as you can afford—and help keep the schools open.

Call the Board of Education, Baldwin High School, or ask your local banker for details.

THE BIRMINGHAM PUBLIC SCHOOLS
