IN MEMORIAM

He has gone beyond
Our reach and care—
We cannot bring him back.
Yet he led a Christian life
And left a shining track—
We cannot wish
Him back again.
His trials here to face.
We'd rather have him
Safe with God
In his divine embrace.
In Memory of

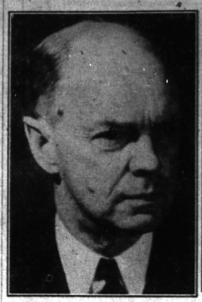
Head New Real Estate Agency



Mr. Buck

Mr. Snyder

The new year will see the advent of another real estate organization operating exclusively in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills district.

The new agency, details of the formation of which were completed this week, is to be known as Snyder and Buck, Inc., from the names of two members of the directorate.

These are B. E. Snyder, for years the suburban manager of Wormer and Moore; Charles E. Buck, formerly a member of the firm of Colgrove, Buck and Tillotson; Frederick J. Strong, Jr., of the Booth Investment Company, and William M. Story of the William T. Barbour interests.

The new organization will hold an informal opening Saturday in its new offices on the ground floor of the Birmingham Theater Building.

you?" To which this Wanderer agreed—and facetiously suggested to Miss Mintling that The Eccentric be advised of any future romantic announcements concerning the Marines.

A striking example of the amount of effort which must often be expended in "covering" the various angles of a news story and the variety of details which must be tended to before the story is complete, accurate and unprejudiced, occurred two weeks ago when a reporter for The Eccentric learned that petitions were to be circulated demanding the removal of James W. Parry as village manager.

The discovery was made on a Tuesday night, but the petitions were not put into circulation until the next day. Realizing that none of the village officials would learn of the petitions until they were actually in circulation, or until they read about them in The Eccentric, the reporter called Harry Allen, village president, informed him of the move, and asked him whether he cared to issue a statement in defense of Mr. Parry and the village.

The result was that the next morning, Mr. Allen not having yet delivered the statement, the reporter called him at his office in Detroit, from where the statement was dictated from one expert stenographer to another over the telephone, the conversation lasting more than a half hour.

It was difficult and expensive work, but it enabled The Eccentric to present both sides of the picture in the next day's paper, and so fully repaid the effort.

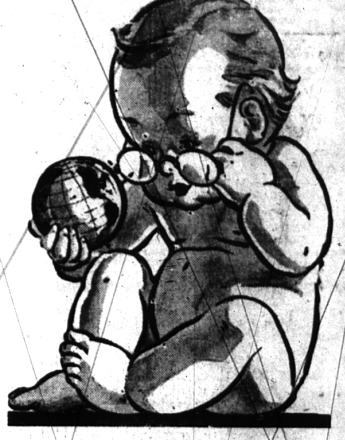
With the New Year—Let's Take A New Look at the World



"The year is dying—let it die." We echo Tennyson's words. So far as we are concerned, anybody can have 1931 that wants it. We are through with it.

We are at the threshold of 1932, with its prospect of better days. TOMORROW is the first of 366 interesting days. Let us begin them joyously. Our attitude toward this new era is important, for the new year offers a tremendous challenge. Everything is not going to change for the better on New Year's Day.

With a sane gaze into the future, however, and with an optimistic rhythm throughout the year, doing all we can to make things better, we are certain to attain new prosperity and happiness.

With the possibilities that 1932 offers us, it behooves us all to strive to attain them. Let us here in Birmingham work together for the good of our community. Let us determine, now, that 1932 will go down in history as a year of satisfaction and worthwhile achievement.
