HUDSON LOSES TO CRANBROOK

Blue And Gray Cagers Come From Behind To Take 2nd Contest, 23-22

In a raggedly played game in which neither team did outstanding work, Cranbrook won a narrow victory over Hudson School at the latter's gymnasium last Friday, 23 to 22. A last-minute foul enabled the Blue and Gray to cage the winning point.

on them and generally exhibiting a hard played though not particularly intelligent game. Coach Finney started his second string lineup which played for about one and a half periods, the score being 8-5 for Hudson when the first string men took the floor. The Blue and Gray regulars however, ended the half on a short end of 11-6, having been able to net only one foul shot.

SHUBERT-LAFAYETTE THEATER

Mr. Merivale of Death and his associates manage it with Julian Royce, Eleanor Stuart

The story relates the extremes to which a girl may go in her effort to get herself out of an appalling marriage with one man in order to win another more to her liking. "It's a Wise Child" represents deftly and truly a situation any family might be called on to face, provided one member has the imagination and courage to say a certain magic seven words in an effort to escape an undesirable situation.

CASS THEATER

Philip Merivale will begin a week's engagement at the Cass Theater Monday night, Jan. 19, in the comedy, "Death Takes a Holiday."

The theme, in the vein of fantastic comedy, shows Death, a personification, puzzling as to why mankind fears him, why man is not satisfied with his three-century and ten years on earth, so Death literally "takes a holiday." He too free comes the start and men of a prince from far-off places, and for three days mingles in the social activities of a gay, thoughtless cotillion of men and women removed from worry about material things.
