

EXPECT HOT FIGHT IN PRIMARIES SOON

Prepare For Regular Township Election To Be Held March 2

James V. Bailey, Bloomfield township clerk, is making preparations for the regular township primary election to be held March 2, and while no petitions have been filed it is anticipated that a hotly contested battle for ballots will be held.

"We don't know definitely whether the final date for filing of petitions is Feb. 9 or 10 yet," said Mr. Bailey, "but everything points to a hot fight."

Officials to be elected are a supervisor, clerk, treasurer, highway commissioner, justice of the peace (to fill vacancy), justice of the peace (full term), and a member of the board of review. Cecil McCallum has announced his intentions of seeking one of the judgeships, and while no other candidates have definitely announced their intentions of running many candidates are expected to file petitions for the township supervisorship and for the positions of justice of the peace.

better than cities that did not have zoning ordinances. We have zoning ordinances we found that they were a business standpoint. We were essentially interested in village zoning as something of single-residence communities. We also found that as property depreciates due to the physical conditions that result because no plan was made, your ability to collect taxes from that property also depreciates.

street and Woodward avenue, Mr. Colburn had only five "pick-up" packages and was gradually eliminated from competition with the other car companies, Mr. Allen said. "In conditions as they are," he said, "it is not to deny a man the opportunity to earn a living." Commissioner Charles E. Lewis declared that he thought a week of recent time in which to test the advantages of the change. Dr. Tucker then ordered his interpretation of the ordinance and there is a noticeable expression of astonishment by the other commissioners.

A definite pattern of growth is necessary in the suburban developments," the professor said. "Since suburban communities want to retain this ideal growth, a definite zoning system is needed, fairly flexible to control residential and housing problems and business developments, and it is necessary to have a town planning board which has final say on how the job is done. The industrial suburban centers, as opposed to commercial control of recreational facilities, and other important phases." "The ideal residential suburb gives a vision of a real neighborhood life, of better government, better and closer schools, and an opportunity for general civic development in large cities," Prof. Wood said in his closing remarks.

other answers from the club's membership are the following: "Rotary is a men's club in which all members are relieved of any idea that they know more than their fellows. When this has been accomplished they are trained by it to be of some use to the world in general." "I doubt very much that any man can define Rotary. It is my opinion that Rotary is something that has dwelt in the hearts of men since the time of Christ. It came to prominence in Chicago when Paul Harris organized and set up what we call Rotary. It taken seriously it will bind men together with a stronger tie than any other organization of the present age."

"A philanthropic society composed of men who get tired of restaurant fare and who very often take the club idea altogether too seriously. The club should be further acquaintance, thereby creating goodwill and cooperation between members without being a burden to them." "It is an international organization founded upon a Code of Ethics which, if followed and lived up to by all its members, would make a safer and better world and community to live in."

"A Rotary club is a club of good fellows."

"Rotary is a vehicle for the spreading of fellowship, service, and international understanding."

WE HEARD IT SAID BY— C. M. Ritchie, Birmingham manager, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. "Medical men are the most handicapped in selling their services, and collecting money for their work. I believe. Perhaps it's because they have no way of unding their work when the patient fails to pay."

"Rotary is the attempt to express in concrete form the belief that the individual owes a duty to his neighbor, to his community, and to mankind in general; to be expressed in terms of service, which duty is greater than self. "An organization to promote better business relations, and to set up higher standards in the community." "An organization of business and professional men striving for the mutual contact to work out in a practical and applied way

New Year's Resolutions PROMISE YOURSELF:

To be so strong, that nothing can disturb your peace of mind. To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism, optimist. To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and to expect only the best. To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others. To be so large for worry, so noble for anger, so strong for fear, and so happy to permit the trouble of trouble. To be so willing to forgive and so forgiving to others that there shall be no more enemies. To be so diligent in setting your own goals and accomplishing them that you will never be poor.
