From A WOMAN'S ANGLE

By MARJORIE ELAINE PORTER

"As a matter of fact," said a Birmingham mother to her daughter, who just had been married, "you might as well know it now, a housewife spends 76 percent of her waking hours in the kitchen."

"That's silly," replied the bride. "It won't take me that long to open a can of sardines."

She's air-minded and boy-shy.

LEMON meringue pie is difficult to bake successfully. The pastry shell requires a comparatively high heat, and the delicately browned meringue a much lower heat. To get both temperatures equally well with the same oven demands extremely accurate heat control. That is where my Electrochef electric oven proves its superiority. "My Electrochef electric range makes possible exact temperature control—either high or low. Mirror-like inner walls distribute a gentle heat evenly throughout the oven. There is no intense dry heat to scorch pastry and make baking difficult. The accurate Electrochef oven control maintains uniform heat from start to finish. I'm simply in love with this modern range!"

feet known to aviation. She admits she'd rather pilot a ship than go out with a boy. But then any kind of piloting is good pre-matrimonial training.

And while we're on the air—For obvious reasons, women have never made a success as jockies in horse races, or as drivers on the automobile speedway. So what is to prevent them from winning air races, now that they are daily winning distinction as pilots?

The "ladies derby" is a new event on the program of the annual air circus to be held under auspices of the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Capital City Airport July 13 and 14. The course will be to Grand Lodge and return.

May the best girl win!

And here we have a statement from the Institute of Social and Religious Research of Columbia University, informing us that the ideal number of children in a family is two or three.

In either smaller or larger families, children have been found to decrease slightly in intelligence, honesty, popularity, capacity for inhibition and moral knowledge.

The authority for this information is J. B. Mallor of Columbia Teachers' College, writing in the Journal of Social Psychology. The survey was based on a study made in three schools, in different types of neighborhoods, one for children of prosperous parents, one of middle class, and the other of poor people.

It was found that in each class the results were similar, but that among the poorer families, the results were exaggerated.

See if these conclusions apply to your own case. It was found that an only child was superior in most of the tests to the children from large families, but inferior to those with one or two brothers or sisters. In co-operation, however, the only child rated lowest of all.

There's a moral. If you were one of a large family you will readily understand

So much more for your money The quality you insist on— at a very low price★

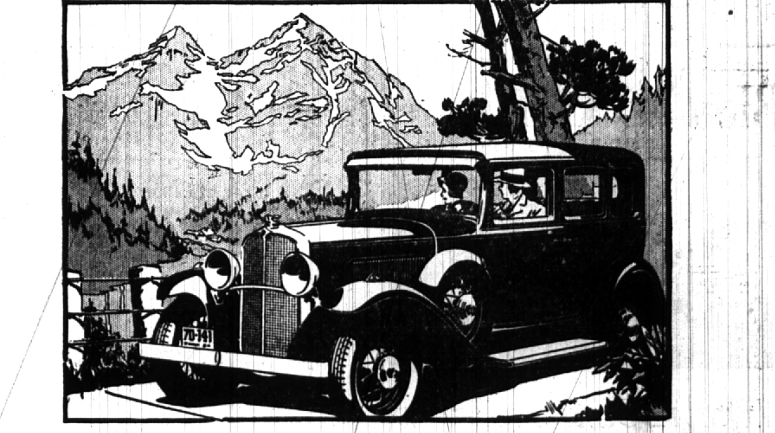

The first time you drive a Pontiac you're due for a genuine surprise—especially if you have based your ideas on small cars costing just a little less. You'll find the whole "feel" of Pontiac different—it gives you a totally different kind of ride.

First is the feeling of power. You'll note pick-up, speed and a driving ease you never looked for at so low a price. If you like to get where you are going without being boxed in traffic or shifting too much on hills, you'll call Pontiac a performer after your own heart.

Then there's comfort—deep seats, flexible springs, four hydraulic shock absorbers and enough weight and length. And, even if you know little about mechanics, you'll readily see how rubber cushions at 43 points in Pontiac's chassis take up road shocks.

On sizzling summer days, and in wet weather, you'll marvel at how well Pontiac's insulated Fisher body shuts out heat and dampness. And when you run a critical eye over the interior fittings and finish, you'll see why Pontiac owners are so glad to have their friends ride with them... genuine mohair or whipcord upholstery, for one thing! (Fine leather in open models.)

The graceful body lines, the broad one-piece fenders with neat built-in fender lamps, the deep V-radiator with its chrome screen—these and many other fine-car features will help make you proud to own a Pontiac... an outstanding General Motors value. You'll like the very low price, too—for what a satisfaction it is to get so much more for your money! Any Oakland Pontiac dealer will arrange a demonstration at your convenience.
