Loneliness in Old Age

Loneliness in old age, with nothing but the fading memories of a cherished childhood, is a fearful state of living. You seek to have good friends with you into the day that your eyes are closed against another earthly tomorrow.

Kitchen Economy, a la verse

Economy of kitchen kind I always like to bring to mind—and when thus I do it and think, I dream of pots and pans and sink. Yet, when another frugal plan that dwains upon the mind of man comes down the path of human folk, I gaze into it for some pleasure.

Beer—Beer—Oh, Dear!

During the recent American Legion state convention at Pontiac, our under-cover agents informed us that the five-for-dollar beer was very good.

Public Apathy

One of the most discouraging inclinations we have come across in many years is the indifference of otherwise good citizens to carry their grievances to duly constituted officials.

The Book Nook

"The Adventures of Alice in the Aquarium; or, Through the Keyhole," a novel of night-life in the nighties, by R. I. A. Wright.

THE REAL TOWN BUILDERS

The man who spends his money at home is a community builder, and he should have the right to spend, but if his pay check is turned back into the business.

EX-NTRIX

"When I am flat and low in mind," says Tallulah Bankhead, who, by the way, is a swell actress, which has nothing to do with it.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Irving Wilson split his thumb with his little finger. M.C.A. Randall limps around because a hundred pound chunk of ice fell on his head.

Clutch In Comeback; Codgers Can't Lose

Advance dope from the summer training camp of the Wm. Greener College football team indicates that the codgers aren't to be almost certain of winning their opening game next fall with the Eastern Shore team.

Peace Pays For War

To reach down to fundamentals, the business famine of today is really the inevitable result of the World War.

CONSIDER YE THE EDITOR

Behold ye the editor. He wears a purple and fine line. He is a man of many moods.

CRAMER SMITH'S SUICIDE

Mr. Cramer Smith's suicide is reported to be the result of a mental case that the self destroyer has broken under strain and consequent worry.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday afternoon of this week three well known local men "play-hokey" from work, packed up their fishing tackle and deserted Birmingham for one of the better spots of Oakland County.

All of Us

I'M NOT sure that I know how small boys spend their time now, but I remember very clearly how they used to put in their days.
