

Speaker Urges Proper Diet As Program For May Day Health Conference Begins

Spinach, carrots and other leafy and Food Council, told students of the Junior department of Baldwin High School, in an address Thursday. Mr. Goldsmith came to Birmingham as one of the speakers in connection with the summer round-up health campaign, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher-Association of Barnum School.

Students were urged by the speaker to drink plenty of milk and to eat, in general, the same food prepared for their small brothers and sisters. Mrs. R. L. Fletcher, chairman of the local committee, mailed 1,500 letters on Monday to inform Birmingham mothers of the purpose of the health conference to be held in the Municipal building May 2 under the supervision of Dr. William Lloyd Kemp, health officer, assisted by other Birmingham physicians and dentists.

BANK PLANS REPAIR GAINS

Re-opening, Mortgage Company Proposals Both Claim Progress

Two groups working on affairs of the closed First State Savings Bank, one with a view to having it reopened with a five-year moratorium on the deposits, and the other interested in transforming it into a mortgage company, can be seen in the progress of their plans which would be pro-rated between the depositors, both reported progress yesterday.

course, place the management in entirely different hands than the former officials and directors. "Depositors signed up this plan last week, in large numbers than was expected. All others should give it their prompt and careful attention, because it is necessary that their organization be perfected at once. If anyone feels unable to decide what to do, he should advise with someone of experience, who is impartial and trustworthy. But prompt decision and action is necessary to insure protection of valuable interests involved."

OBITUARY

EDWARD H. NEWBERRY
Edward H. Newberry, 84 years old, for 33 years a deputy sheriff in Wayne County, was buried yesterday from Holy Name Chapel, following a death Monday morning at his home, 168 Martin street.

"Don't lie to me! Who is he?"

"No, I'm not crazy. You're woman (or man) an expert buying shirts for another man. And I can describe him exactly—he's four feet six—got arms a foot long—and a neck the size of my wrist. What am I driving at? Look at this shirt! Only been laundered twice—and it's shrunken like a wool sock. Either you're in love with a midget—or you need expert advice on how to buy shirts."

Meeting attracted crowd of nearly 300 people, overflowing past the doors into the sidewalk and street.

A statement issued yesterday by the depositors' committee representing the depositors, and consisting of Harry Allen, Williams C. Harris and Stanley Peabody, indicated that the committee has taken active responsibility for advancement of the plan.

Low Values Cited

"A receiver, appointed by the circuit judge, is in charge. Only under order of the court can a receiver dispose of the assets. At present, a forced liquidation of assets would be wasteful, because of ridiculously low present values. So, to avoid a second disaster, preservation of these assets for proper handling under better conditions is essential."

Co-operation Needed

"Its success depends, in first instance, upon co-operation by depositors. If a sufficient number do not support it, nothing will have been lost and no arrangements with other interests will follow. But if this plan receives the necessary support, the depositors will have formed an organization entitled to recognition by the State Banking Department and circuit court when appropriate and official action is hereafter asked for."
