SCREEN, STAGE ...AND STUDIO...

By AUDEE ENCE

Since Depresh arrived, term of "Dynamic Detroit" isn't given ballyhoo it was few years ago, but city is still living up to reputation of prosperity, at least as far as show business is concerned.

Broadway is sitting up to take notice of reports of success of shows and repeat runs in Detroit. Shining example is "Student Prince," nine-year old musical comedy, booked for second engagement this season at Cass next week, with gross of $19,700 on first week's booking. Show is said to be $90,000 ahead this season.

That isn't all. Two box offices at Cass were open and doing big business for "Grand Hotel" and "Barretts of Wimpole Street," for advance sale of latter, when former was attraction there. Monday's harvest alone that week amounted to $10,000, N. Y. reports show.

"Rhapsody in Black," at Cass this week, also pointed to on Broadway as proof of Detroit as good show center. "Rhapsody" is playing Detroit for fourth time with promise of return for summer run.

Everybody's Doing It

Hollywood, not picture industry, seems to be in fashion at present time, with butcher, baker and candle-stick maker still believing Santa Claus is going to bring movie fame as actor, writer or director.

Story goes one press agent for Warners had rent reduced $25 a month by landlord who confided he was writing story, and would reduce rent from $100 to $75 if prospective tenant would help him put story over with studio.

Film execs can hardly find restaurant where they can eat without being asked by waiters to read manuscripts.

—o—

Complaint

Drys throughout country are said to be protesting to censor boards that pictures showing liquor, drinking scenes, and all forms of wetness are encouraging drinking and disregard of 18th amendment. Agitation is result of "Wet Parade," recently released. Most petitions are from rural districts, where claim is that producers are trying to encourage drinking by "glorifying" it.

—o—

Working Again

Flo Ziegfeld is back on Broadway after several weeks' illness, and is again doing business in large way. Ziegfeld started on revival of "Show Boat" week ago, which may play at new Carroll Theater for summer run. Producer plans to keep "Hot Cha" going for summer run at Ziegfeld Theater. This week Ziegfeld will be seen as "Ziegfeld's Vaudeville Revue" in vaude under RKO management. Cutting process is now under way. Result will be "Follies" in tabloid form.

—o—

Generosity

What is said to be Ziegfeld's most profitable show investment at present time is "Follies of the Air," Sunday night radio program for Chrysler which began April 3.

As result of ether program, producer nets $4,000 per broadcast. Billie Burke Ziegfeld, his wife, received gift of $4,000 from auto manufacturer when programs started. Daughter Patricia also got new car as result of Will Rogers offering his services on program as compliment to old friend, Ziegfy.

—o—

Brighten Shaw Play

Bernard Shaw's ("George" to be omitted according to program) new comedy, "Too True To Be Good," opened recently on Broadway under auspices of Theater Guild. Bright spots of show are said to be performances of Beatrice Lillie and Hope Williams, who do some clowning in spite of long speeches with which text is peppered, critics say.

Play seems to be vehicle for conveying author's own ironic and satiric views, but has light moments of sheer pleasure for audience, and is recommended.

Cowboys Still Popular

Western films are still favorites among younger generation of talkie patrons, Buck Jones reports after tour of Loew-Circuit.

"Children are fed up on "schoolroom' programs," Buck declared. "What they want is action. They're bored with sophisticated talkers in the films, and school stuff leaves them cold. Children lack patience for lengthy dialogue, but any kid can understand pantomime. Give the kids more action and westerns."

—o—

Detroit Theaters

"Pop Goes the Devil," comedy of Greenwich Village life, is offering at Civic this week.

"Die Foersterschristl" ("The Forester's Daughter"), half legendary, half romantic movie, with dialogue in German, opens Monday at Little Cinema Theater for requested return engagement of one week.
