From A WOMAN'S ANGLE

By MARJORIE BLAINE FOSTER

I see by the paper:

After all, Horace Greeley was right! Not only does this "Go west" theory apply to young men, but young women seem to be carving out unique careers in the land of sand and golden opportunity.

"Go west, young gal, that gold, etc."

Joking aside, however, Ethel Clark of Moab, Utah, is boss of her own stage line and truck ing business.

Marjorie E. Porter

Being a woman of action, and a compt roller and vice-president her line, Ethel travels up and down from Salt Lake City to Moab. Anything in her line is too big a job for Ethel, from soliciting freight to hacking snow drifts with a 10-ton truck.

—o—

A musical foursome out in Los Angeles are trying a new one on their domestic piano. A man, his second wife, his daughter by his former marriage, and her mother have taken a cottage there for the month of August.

"We all love music," is their explanation of the harmony of their unusual arrangement. "It's the fourth dimension of matrimony," says Wife No. 1.

—o—

Mebbe so, but there's nothing quite like a duet to achieve true matrimonial harmony. And mathematically speaking, the safest rule to follow in married life, that one and one make two.

—o—

Crime waves in Australia go in for heavy stuff. Over there, they think nothing of walking away with a church. Recently a gang of men in overalls appeared on Mosquito Island in the lower Hunter River, and set to work demolishing a fine old church.

—o—

When the startled islanders protested, it was explained the church was to be re-erected on a better site. Instead, the church disappeared entirely from sight and hasn't been seen since.

—o—

And Al Capone has never been to Australia?

—o—

William Penn can thank his lucky stars for the illumination of his portraits in the Pennsylvania Society Building in Philadelphia, and in Christ Church College at Oxford, simultaneously, when the 250th anniversary of his arrival in America is observed, next October.

—o—

Dr. Albert E. Wildman, of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, has devised a way to hitch a switch to a stair and simply pushing the button, "transform its light into radio waves."

—o—

Whether these will be germane-ant waves, Dr. Wildman has not stated. His plan is to broadcast the waves to the Pennsylvania Society Building in Philadelphia, and to Christ Church College at Oxford.

As he explains it, "the broadcast power will operate switches in electric lights in front of Penn's pictures," causing simultaneous illumination.

—o—

"Although there are several stars under consideration," Dr. Wildman continued, "we will probably use one at the end of the handle of the dipper."

—o—

Even dry astronomy is growing wet these days!

The sky seems to be the limit, with astronomers clamoring for the dipper! However, it looks as though it would take a Democratic star to bring down the dipper!

—o—

A Detroit woman lawyer advises troubled wives who come to her for advice in matrimonial difficulties to go out and get a job, on the theory that "they immediately assume the role of successful business women."

—o—

It isn't quite clear yet, just how this point of view will effect a reconciliation, especially nowadays when a husband's reply couldn't be anything else but,

"Try and get it."

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hunt of Pierce street entertained over the week-end, their nephew, George E. Prindle of Perry, O., and Miss Lucile Joyne of Plainsville.

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 97): "The more material the belief, the more obvious its error, and divine Spirit, supreme in its domain, dominates all matter, and man is found in the likeness of Spirit, his original being."
