

BLOOMFIELD HILLS COUNTRY CLUB DATES BACK TO 1909

(This is the third of a series of historical sketches of various clubs in the Birmingham area.)

A number in the new line of activities have been guests at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, playing on the course for pleasure. Among these are Glenn Collett, Vere, Tony, Arthur, Gene Sarason, Walter, Eugene, John Jurado, and many others including Mrs. Stewart Bentley and Mrs. Harley G. Hiebo, both of whom are members.

Since the organization of the club, those who have held the office of president are Mr. George W. Fisher, 1909-1911; Mr. Arthur, for 1914 through 1916; Mr. Chittenden, 1917-1918; George Willey, 1919; W. W. Campbell, 1920; P. C. W. Fox, 1923-1924; J. R. McNaughton, 1925; C. A. Newcomb, Jr., 1926-1927; Manly D. Davis, 1928; T. R. Donovan, 1929; W. A. Fisher, 1930; C. B. Wilson, 1931; with Peter J. Monahan incumbent for 1932.

Other officers at the present time are: Dabois Young, vice president; Henry T. Ewald, secretary and James Q. Goulet, treasurer. On the board of directors in addition to the officers are Charles B. Wilson, Laurence P. Smith, Edwin P. Fisher, Bunck Parker and Robert C. Traub.

Among the informal social events enjoyed by club members are a dance every Saturday through the summer, and bridge parties for the ladies the last Friday afternoon of each month during the summer. However, the clubhouse remains open the year around.

Men golfers belonging to the club play tournaments Saturdays and holidays. Of the 350 members of Bloomfield Hills Country Club today, about 60 percent are Detroiters, about 30 percent reside in Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham and about 10 percent in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Tunis Miner of Pine Lake had as their dinner guests Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wernuth of Lakeside drive.

Country's Largest Catholic Building To Cost Millions

Magnificent Shrine To Mother of Christ Being Erected in Washington

Interior and exterior views of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D. C., under construction.

By MADEIRA LEOP

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The largest and most expensive Roman Catholic building in the United States—its cost between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000, as its completion is now being planned by the Catholic University of America in the Brookland section of the national capital.

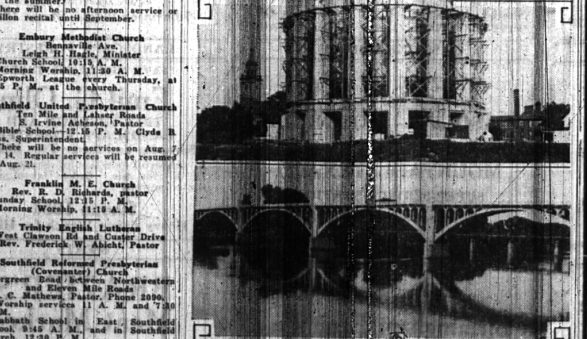

The crypt of this magnificent beautiful national shrine, built in honor of the Virgin Mary, Immaculate, has been finished. The structure for the entire church has been built and parts of the superstructure have just been built.

Until the erection of the shrine, the United States was the only nation which had no great national shrine in honor of the mother of Christ. When this new National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, as it will be known, will be completed, it will rival in decoration and splendor the materials, the Catholic churches of the old world.

Marble, gipsy and other stones from 20 countries are used in the interior to give a brilliant lustre and on the exterior a golden glow, and a campanile 61 feet high will make the shrine one of the most prominent religious buildings in this country.

It is to be the scene of vast religious assemblages from all parts of the United States. The seating capacity is 5,000 persons and the sanctuary is large enough to accommodate the entire American hierarchy of the Catholic Church as well as several hundred priests. The general architecture is Romanesque and the form of the building is a cruciform.

TO DEDICATE HISTORIC MEMORIALS

Two memorial dedications of national-wide interest are scheduled for the historic city of Vincennes, Ind. Plans are under way for the opening of the new Memorial Bridge, below, over the Wabash river, marking the spot where Abraham Lincoln held his famous address from Indiana to Illinois, in March, 1831. Construction of the George Rogers Clark Memorial, also in Vincennes, is progressing rapidly at Vincennes, commemorating Clark's victory there over the British in 1779, which gave the Northwest Territory to the United States.

SCOUTS TO SEE FLAG CEREMONY

Birmingham Troops Will Join Council in Camp Brady Presentation

Boy Scouts will assemble at Camp Brady, Waterford, Sunday afternoon to witness the presentation of an American flag to the Detroit Council of Boy Scouts by Congressman Rogers H. Clancy of Detroit. Birmingham Scout troops come under the jurisdiction of the Detroit Council.

The flag is one removed recently from the mast on the National Capitol in Washington, in accordance with the custom of replacing every six weeks the flags which by constantly day and night illuminate the Capitol Building.

Through the efforts of David Linn, architect, and at the request of Carl H. O'Brien, Carl H. Guido and H. W. White, the flag was secured for Camp Brady.

The presentation will be made by Congressman Clancy to Gov. Wilbur J. Bricker, who will in turn present it to Edward K. Warren, president of the Detroit Scout Council.

The flag will be raised following the presentation, but will be removed later to preserve it so that it may fly on state occasions at the camp.

The ceremony will be open to all Boy Scouts, their families and friends.

Rotary Club Hears Report of Officers

Harry A. Bissett and J. B. Howarth, president and secretary, respectively of the Birmingham Rotary Club, Monday noon told fellow-members about the annual district assembly meeting of officers in the 23rd Rotary International District, held Monday and Tuesday of last week in Dearborn.

The affair was presided over by John Emmet Richards, Alpena township milliter who this year is governor for the 23rd District. More than 100 members attended from the 53 clubs in the district.
