

SMITH AGE AN ATTO.

Al Smith may be radio's ear in Brown Derby if he decides to accept offer of $15 grand per annum made by National Association of Broadcasters...

Ben Turpin, comedian for 43 years, has last laugh on public and it's good one, too. Benny says: "I've still got my money, and there are mighty few of Hollywood crowd who can say that."

Hollywood will be represented at inauguration ceremonies at White House, Mar. 4, as Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Warner Jr. received invitation from President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt to be guests for event.

What a year for fur! Even Junior's Teddy Bear will have to duck for the cyclone fur to save his skin if the present furry fashion continues. And for the present fashions, appearances indicate that fur is here to stay.

From A WOMAN'S ANGLE

What a year for fur! Even Junior's Teddy Bear will have to duck for the cyclone fur to save his skin if the present furry fashion continues. And for the present fashions, appearances indicate that fur is here to stay.

How about a bit scarf of leopard for he cloth and that's the thing. Lucky, indeed, is anyone with a trunkful of furs.

Because fashion possibilities are "fur" reaching, and you may as well use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

And all these years, the daughter and perhaps the daughter's daughter, have treasured it and saved it for some unknown purpose ordained by fashion.

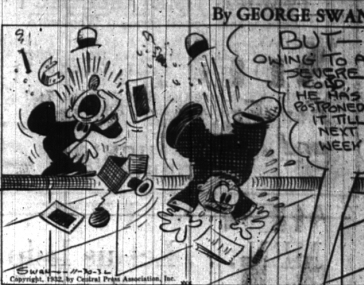

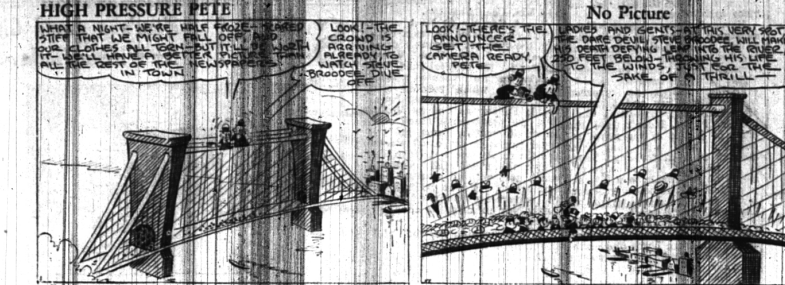

Now is the time to drap it over modern shoulders, with some remodeling and up-to-date touches, to make the wearer smart and luxurious.

Then there's the melon puff that accompanied the cape, when the two made their fashion debut back in the '30's.

Believe it or not, that little puff is as smart as the cape! And if you don't want it for a puff, all the time, have it modernized to "unroll" plus a few buttons, and use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

Why, there's that seaskin hat of father's? Well, some alterations it can be adapted to the present vogue, as fur has even gone to madly's head this season.

Any kind of fur trimming on a hat answers his demand. Ermine tails for the dress hat, or a leopard hair for the tailored felt.

Shoes, as you know escaped, but if winter and the depression hang on, there is still the possibility of reviving the fur shoe, or a loop of American type and waddling around in fur-lined moccasins.

Above the shoe line, fur begins. On up the costume it travels, including all manner of trimmings, pockets, collars, and even sleeves of fur.

Furred to the notch of fashion, one might almost be expected to growl or purr, as the case may be.

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

Because fashion has gone Eskimo for the season, and on the horizon it's "fur" as the eye can see!

What a year for fur! Even Junior's Teddy Bear will have to duck for the cyclone fur to save his skin if the present furry fashion continues. And for the present fashions, appearances indicate that fur is here to stay.

How about a bit scarf of leopard for he cloth and that's the thing. Lucky, indeed, is anyone with a trunkful of furs.

Because fashion possibilities are "fur" reaching, and you may as well use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

And all these years, the daughter and perhaps the daughter's daughter, have treasured it and saved it for some unknown purpose ordained by fashion.

Now is the time to drap it over modern shoulders, with some remodeling and up-to-date touches, to make the wearer smart and luxurious.

Then there's the melon puff that accompanied the cape, when the two made their fashion debut back in the '30's.

Believe it or not, that little puff is as smart as the cape! And if you don't want it for a puff, all the time, have it modernized to "unroll" plus a few buttons, and use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

And all these years, the daughter and perhaps the daughter's daughter, have treasured it and saved it for some unknown purpose ordained by fashion.

Now is the time to drap it over modern shoulders, with some remodeling and up-to-date touches, to make the wearer smart and luxurious.

Then there's the melon puff that accompanied the cape, when the two made their fashion debut back in the '30's.

Believe it or not, that little puff is as smart as the cape! And if you don't want it for a puff, all the time, have it modernized to "unroll" plus a few buttons, and use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

What a year for fur! Even Junior's Teddy Bear will have to duck for the cyclone fur to save his skin if the present furry fashion continues. And for the present fashions, appearances indicate that fur is here to stay.

How about a bit scarf of leopard for he cloth and that's the thing. Lucky, indeed, is anyone with a trunkful of furs.

Because fashion possibilities are "fur" reaching, and you may as well use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

And all these years, the daughter and perhaps the daughter's daughter, have treasured it and saved it for some unknown purpose ordained by fashion.

Now is the time to drap it over modern shoulders, with some remodeling and up-to-date touches, to make the wearer smart and luxurious.

Then there's the melon puff that accompanied the cape, when the two made their fashion debut back in the '30's.

Believe it or not, that little puff is as smart as the cape! And if you don't want it for a puff, all the time, have it modernized to "unroll" plus a few buttons, and use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

And all these years, the daughter and perhaps the daughter's daughter, have treasured it and saved it for some unknown purpose ordained by fashion.

Now is the time to drap it over modern shoulders, with some remodeling and up-to-date touches, to make the wearer smart and luxurious.

Then there's the melon puff that accompanied the cape, when the two made their fashion debut back in the '30's.

Believe it or not, that little puff is as smart as the cape! And if you don't want it for a puff, all the time, have it modernized to "unroll" plus a few buttons, and use it for a collar.

Yes, it's being done. What else might a family trunk can't be salvaged and put to a new use.

So it's high time the moth balls yielded up their treasure. No doubt, in many a trunk for cedar chest, lies one or more (luckier still) of those quaint fur capes worn about 50 years or so ago.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO. APPLICANTS WHO HAVE TELEPHONES USUALLY GET FIRST CALL. When employers need additional help, they usually take the easiest and quickest way of reaching applicants and former employees - THEY CALL THEM BY TELEPHONE.

Legal Notices. NOTICE OF MICHIGAN-THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OAKLAND. NOTICE OF MICHIGAN-THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OAKLAND.

Legal Notices. NOTICE OF MICHIGAN-THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OAKLAND. NOTICE OF MICHIGAN-THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OAKLAND.

SHOPS and SERVICES in BIRMINGHAM. General Auto Service. Birmingham Cab Co. Watson's Autobody. AUTHORIZED Timken-Silent Automatic SERVICE. BIRD ELECTRICAL CO. BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP FIRE PROTECTION. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A TOWNSHIP BOARD MEETING will be held from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. Wednesday, December 7, 1932, at the Township Office in the Municipal Building, Birmingham, Michigan.