

U-TEEN, STAGE AND STUDIO.

Popularity of "red heads" among girls is not modern idea. Auburn haired beauty was as much admired in Nero's time as now. Then, as at present, envious blondes of brunettes resorted to tinting process to imitate their tittan sisters.

At least, so say records of 44 A. D. which substantiate background for filming "The Sign of the Cross." According to Wally Westmore, head of Paramount hair-dressing department, Roman girls had their hair arranged by slaves, and preserved their effect for weeks with venison.

Clarette Colbert, who portrays the role of Nero's Empress, Poppaea, wears startling coiffure with curled bangs across forehead, and long, stiffly lacquered curls at neck.

"Pat" Harley, tittan haired girl recently placed under studio contract, and Lydia Williams, young character actress, will support Buster Crabbe and Frances Dee in "King of the Jungle."

Incident Here's story of lucky break for actress who started days in silent films seemed ended about 10 years ago. It happened during filming of "The Pilgrim" feature, Charles R. Rogers' production.

After patient efforts to get actress in cast to read lines, right today "The Sign of the Cross" with Louette Young and George Brent.

Friday and Saturday— "Night After Night," starring George Raft and Constance Cummings.

Sunday Monday and Tuesday—"Cabin in the Cotton," with Richard Barthelmess, Dorothy Jordan and Betty Davis.

Wednesday and Thursday—"A Trouble in Paradise," with Miriam Hopkins, Kay Francis, Lucille Riegels and Herbert Marshall.

Ruth Eting Catching the spirit of Thanksgiving, Ruth Eting poses for a new photograph in "His Pilgrim" feature of 1932. She is starred with Nat Shilkret's orchestra once a week on a popular musical program.

Director Ben Stolloff had her suit holding up production and turned to army of extras for relief. He spotted one whose face seemed familiar. "Have you ever had acting experience?" director inquired. "She replied that she had, and when asked whether she could do part in question, replied simply, "I'll try."

After quick rehearsal, scene was made perfectly. When Stolloff inquired her name, which was Mary MacLaren, he realized his new extra had been one of his brightest screen stars decade ago. As result, she has been promised substantial parts in Stolloff's next production.

Program Lipton's Tea hour will broadcast via NBC as soon as program is selected. Choice seems to be between Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norwood in radio version of "Nigger" series, and William Bradley in cross-stroke musical by Harold Levy's orchestra and Rufus Hixon, vocalist.

"Cat and Fiddle" Otto Harbach's "The Cat and the Fiddle" with tunes by Irving Kern will open at Cass in Detroit Monday night for week's stay after running year and seven days in N. Y. Cast includes Michael Belfrage and Bettina Hall.
