WELL, I HAD A TALK WITH A CHAP TODAY, WHO SORT OF HINTED THAT HE MIGHT SPONSOR US IN A RADIO PROGRAM!! HE'S INVENTED A COMBINATION KEY-RING, TETHERING RING AND CORK-SCREW ALL IN ONE, THAT HE THOUGHT WE MIGHT BE ABLE TO PUT OVER... I INTIMATED THAT WE WOULD HAVE TO HAVE AS MUCH MONEY AS THIS RUDY CROSBY FELLER GETS... I DON'T KNOW WHAT HE GETS, BUT TWENTY BUCKS A WEEK FOR A FEW MINUTES AT NIGHT WOULD LOOK GOOD TO ME!!

WELL, I'M A MODEST MAN... I DON'T NEED MUCH! I JUST ENOUGH TO PAY A COUPLE OF SECRETARIES TO ANSWER MY MASH NOTES WOULD BE KAY WITH ME!!

IT WOULD TAKE SOMEBODY DIZZY ENOUGH TO INVENT A THING LIKE THAT TO SPONSOR. YOU TUNE—ASSASSINATORS!!!

Life's Little Laughs

Know What He Was About
"Well—Good gracious! How could you think of bringing that fellow to dinner when you know I'm spring cleaning!"
"Hush—Hush, my dear! He's the only man I know who can help move the sidewalk."—Loring Shaw.

It Takes a Good Man
"As an intoxicant" beverage," said Uncle Bill Bottletop, "there's one thing to be said in favor of cider; it does teach a man a whole lot of patience."—Washington Star.

And Offener
Patient—"Five shillings for drawing one tooth. You earn your money lightly. Five shillings for a few seconds' work."
Dentist—"If you like I can draw it more slowly."—Punch

It Would Be Nice
Young wife (at teller's window)—"How could I get my bankbook balanced?"
Teller—"I'd suggest that you make a deposit, ma'am."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Phil Carry a Brief Case
An Englishman in New York was being measured for a new suit.
"And now," said the tailor, "what about the pockets?"
"Usual kind," said the Englishman.
"Well," said the tailor, "you'd better decide. We make them to pint, half-pint and quart bottle sizes."—Montreal Star.

We Must be Careful
The argumentative town alderman was on his feet, bent on pulverizing his opponents.
"Mr. Chairman," he said, "Alderman Jones says this is a case of six of one and a half-dozen of the other. But I say no—most emphatically no! It is exactly the contrary."—Bystander.

Dear and Blind
Cop: "Madam, didn't you see me hold up my hand?"
Woman at the Wheel: "I did not."
Cop: "Didn't you hear me blow my whistle?"
Woman at the Wheel: "I did not."
Cop: "Well, I guess I might as well go home. I need some to be doing much good here."
—Hardware Age.

Ardent Charge
Wife—"It is church time, John. Shall we go in our auto?"
Husband—"I prefer that way. The old bus is pretty sure to break down before we get here."
Worth Repeating
He was a bit shy and after she had thrown her arms around him and kissed him for bringing her a

Our Scrap Book

THE GARDENER'S GUERDON
I wondered that she worked so hard Gardening her small back yard; What recompense she found in toil, Flung seed, preparing soil; Where she raked and hoed and watered. Or if you'd give greatly mattered. "You cannot use the flowers you grow." I complained. She answered, "So? But I have yet to see the day I have more than I can give away. Then, yes, I like to think I am a gardener. Of a special patch of garden: One given me alone to bring By my hands to flowering. As for work—work is joy that ends In beauty and in making friends. (Oh, rare the friendships that commence With slips exchanged across a fence!)"

I find this harder to express— I find in watching loveliness Expand from seed, then bloom and pod, I am nearer understanding God!"
Ethel Roswig Fuller.

TRUANT UMBRELLAS
With my thoughts set on the Spring I chanced to walk recently where the theaters are thickest. It was on a Saturday afternoon and the walk was crowded with amusement seekers. Presently in the press I observed a queer old fellow carrying on his back a monstrous pack of umbrellas. He ran a bell monotonously and professed himself a member of umbrellas. He can hardly have expected to find a customer in the crowd. Even a blinking eye—and these street merchants are shrewd in these matters—must have told him that in all this hurrying mass of people the thoughts of no one ran toward umbrellas. Rather, I think that he was taking an hour from the
