Ancient Bibles To Be Shown In Exhibition

"The Five Greatest Things About the Bible" is the subject of a brief sermon to be given by the Rev. W. Clarence Wright of the First Presbyterian Church as part of a novel program planned for the Sunday evening service.

Following Mr. Wright's address, a collection of curious and ancient Bibles will be exhibited, including old copies in Greek and Hebrew and their translations. In the exhibit will also be Bibles from Italy, Scotland, Wales, Germany and other countries. Curiously illustrated volumes on religious subjects which have been handed down from generation to generation will likewise be shown.

"Possessors of Bibles or other religious books of an unusual nature, who would be willing to exhibit the collection already promised, are requested to communicate before Sunday with the church," Mr. Wright announced recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Adams of Adams road will entertain at dinner Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Linabury, Mr. and Mrs. John Allhouse, and Mrs. John Jewell, all of Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Garner Miller.

Mrs. James Cobb of Oakland avenue was a guest Saturday at luncheon and lecture in the Sultan Room of the Masonic Temple in Detroit, sponsored by the Detroit English Club. The guest speaker was Sylvia Thompson, the noted English novelist.

Recognition of Modern Art Asked By Michigan Artists

Business and pleasure were happily combined at the annual meeting of the officers, trustees and delegates of the Federation of Michigan Artists Association held at the Academy of Art, Cranbrook Foundation, on Friday.

The keynote of the gathering was voiced in an appeal for the encouragement of modern art in Michigan by Frank L. Allen, director of the Academy of Art, and by Sylvester Gerry of the Kalamazoo Institute of Art.

"America is conscious of its own great men, and Michigan should also be aware of the men who are working and accomplishing modern results in art circles," Mr. Gerry told the federation members.

"Art of the past belongs to the dead, which is no need to say is for the living art as expressed by the artists who are working now, and who interpret the world as we know it today."

Speaking informally, Mr. Allen also stressed the need of educating the public to a greater appreciation of modern art.

"I am very much interested in Mr. Gerry's point of view," Mr. Allen declared, "and in the need for insistence in exhibitions and lectures on that viewpoint. This is because a large reward is waiting for those who give the same attention in art to contemporary movements as they give to the movement in literature."

The old masters have been exploited, and it is almost impossible to secure a first rate exhibition of their work at the present time. We need more modern art in Michigan, that is, we need a greater appreciation of it to encourage artists to exhibit."

A general discussion on the relative merits of conservative and modern exhibitions brought out that exhibitions of modern art reflect a stimulating influence and are vital to a community.

At the morning session which closed at 11 o'clock, ways and means for securing exhibitions and speakers were discussed, which was followed by a luncheon at officers on last year's slate.

The officers re-instated were: Miss Florence Hall of Kalamazoo, president; W. L. Jenks of Port Huron, vice-president; Mrs. Mary

Forum Speakers Will Debate Prohibition

William G. Lewis, secretary of the Detroit Branch of the Crusaders, an organization favoring prohibition, and Walter Nelson, president of the Detroit Branch of the Civil Liberties Bureau, will debate the question of prohibition at a public meeting Monday evening when they meet as guest speakers of the Peoples Open Forum at the Community Home to discuss national prohibition.

Mr. Lewis will defend the opposition to the law and Mr. Nelson will speak in favor of its enforcement. Invitation to attend the meeting is extended to all interested in the subject from either point of view. W. J. Norton, chairman of the forum.

Chinese Students Will Be Guests At Reception

Members of the International Relations Club conducted by Mrs. Charles J. Shain at the Community House Tuesday morning of each week, will be in charge of the reception of the Chinese Students Club at the University of Michigan and Benjamin King, also a Chinese student, who will be guest speakers at the Baptist Church Sunday evening.

Following discussion of the "Manchurian Situation" by Mr. Shain, the guests will be introduced at an informal reception in the church parlors.

Miss Florence Grant is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Assisting Miss Grant are Mrs. Shain, Mrs. Hugh H. Wellman, Mrs. Harold S. Gray, Mrs. Frank Main and Mrs. J. M. Hadjiky.

Know Your Sweetheart By His Handwriting

By EDNA PURDY WALSH, Editor, Character Reading Magazine.

The Industrious Sweetheart

The truly industrious man does not believe in wasting money time, letters, yet the writing may not be cramped at all, to denote stings.

find it

Looped 'f's and 't's, Energy.

Architectural

T-bars increasing in size, Lasting Energy.

The writing of the very industrious man may not be excessively angular, but may be termed semi-angular, since very oval and rounded lines predominating would mean a more easy-going nature. There is no vacillating wavering in the writing of the energetic man. He often makes triangular loops on such letters as 'y'. Letters such as 'f' and 't' will also be looped back in crossing.

The really industrious man keeps up his industry, day after day. He does not work in fits and starts. Consequently his letters are large at the end of the word as at the beginning, as a rule, and the words in the last of his letters will be made as firmly as those in the first. His energy does not give out before he finishes.

Many energetic, businesslike people cut the letters like 'y' and 'g' off sharply before the line, showing their desire to eliminate unnecessary details and fluffing.

Remember—No final judgment until other signs in writing are studied.

Fooling the Bees

An apiarist in Canada is trying the experiment of shipping his bees to Australia in the fall. The idea is to eliminate their long winter rest and make them produce all year around. After their work in the North, and just as they would begin to hibernate, by chasing summer around the globe, their winter quarters, they are to find themselves in a new field of activity, where summer has just begun. So, by chasing summer around the globe, their winter quarters, they are to find themselves in a new field of activity, where summer has just begun.
