

SOCIETY IN BIRMINGHAM AND THE HILLS

Group Will Organize Luncheon Meeting Is Planned By League Of Women Voters

A Birmingham Branch of the Needlework Guild of America will be organized Tuesday afternoon at the Community House, at a tea and informal meeting of which Mrs. Carlotta C. Patterson of Woodland avenue is general chairman.

The meeting will be held, Mrs. Patterson held, to give Birmingham women interested in the work of the Guild, an opportunity to become members. Mrs. Truman H. Newberry of Grosse Pointe, state chairman of the Guild, will also be a guest at the tea, and will also state the prospective members of the object of the organization.

"While many are familiar with the work of the Needlework Guild throughout the country," Mrs. Patterson explained, "others may not understand its purpose. All that is required of a member is to furnish two new garments once a year when the Guild meets its annual gathering in October.

"As that time the Birmingham Branch will call upon all its members to furnish two new articles of an odd-type as long as they are new. These will be distributed among charitable organizations or groups engaged in welfare work who request them. In Pontiac and other cities, the Needlework Guild supplies visiting nurses with garments for those who are sick and needy."

Mrs. H. G. Wood of Winthrop drive is chairman of the social committee arranging for the organization tea.

Birmingham Girl Is Winner In High Jump

Miss Katherine McCutcheon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. McCutcheon, 1500 Woodland avenue, a junior at Michigan State College, won first place in the high jump at the annual Convocation Show held at Lansing Monday.

Miss McCutcheon's mount for the feat was a cavity horse.

Miss McCutcheon is also well known for honors won as a contestant in fencing.

Guests Invited To Opening Of "Exchange"

An informal reception Saturday afternoon will mark the opening of the Leola S. Macaulay Exchange in the quaint little home on East Maple recently purchased and remodeled to provide attractive quarters for the new enterprise.

The exchange, which will serve Birmingham women as a clearing house for their home-made products, will open Monday when Mrs. Macaulay will welcome her friends whose interest in the project has aided in making it a reality.

There is in the old-fashioned house, with its high ceilings and double floors, brightened by the use of paint, brush and dainty wall decorations, Mrs. Macaulay will display the necessary, knitted articles and baked goods of local fame, by Birmingham women. In addition, she will include antique furniture and other articles of interest to homemakers and collectors alike.

Through the successful efforts of friends, and as the result of a bridge party held at the Community House recently, the remodeling of the little house was made possible.

Assisting Mrs. Macaulay at the opening reception will be Mr. John F. Reeder, Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. W. H. Mackenzie, and Mrs. George Howard Fox.
