

T. S. and THAT

By G. R. A.

The only real reason that you prosper a plan upon God's feet is that you get by hard work, achieve something for the glorification of your Maker. Happy indeed, are those who have found for human existence it has not been recorded among the best things of men and women. Some people may "kid" themselves into believing that the earth was made for more play, to rest, drink, and be merry; others may seek to gain fame and power, accompanied by the admiration of their fellow mortals. Life is an opportunity, a ladder upon which to climb in haste. The father expects to lead into St. Peter's domain, tripping upon a bad habit, a debasing vice, or an empty ambition. Happy indeed, are those who are serious toward each day to make at least part of it an opportunity for self-development through sacrifice, unselfishness, humility, and moral regeneration.

People out to work, hunger for a new chance to wrest a peaceful bread from living from life, will not share the same fate as those who are conducted by a man and woman near Gladstone, in Delta County, where the deep and heavy waves of Green Bay roll ceaselessly. The picture is set forth by the editor of the Delta County Reporter, as follows:

Most people complain about the wind or another thing such as the present, but this week the writer had the pleasure of talking with a couple who were perfectly content; they were living alone, this man and his wife were never in any trouble when most humans begin to live in the past. But not they!

They had raised a family and they were a couple who were married and got each other's own way. The father had worked hard to support his family, but he was not a slave to his family. He had a little more of a life, and he was not a slave to his family.

This was last year. They went ahead with their gardening ideas, and they were not a slave to their own ideas. Growing their own food held a thrill for them; they had a sense of accomplishment, but that was not what they were after. They were after a life that was not a slave to their own ideas.

They had a life that was not a slave to their own ideas. They had a life that was not a slave to their own ideas. They had a life that was not a slave to their own ideas.
