Views Of Old Detroit To Be Thrown On Screen

Scenes of Detroit during back to the early days of French colonization will be revealed in a stereoscopic lecture by Mrs. William E. Robinson, under auspices of the League of SE. James Women at the church parlors on W. Maple Avenue, Tuesday evening at 8 P. M.

Mrs. Robinson, who is a descendant of one of the early French families to settle in Detroit, will recall the days when the city was Fort Pontchartrain, and will trace its growth and development down through the years.

The program, entitled "The Album of Old Detroit," will also include other old-fashioned features, such as a choir to sing songs of the picturesque past. Miss E. Follows will be in charge of the choir in the church parlors on W. Maple Avenue, Tuesday evening at 8 P. M.

Assisting in the refreshment committee will be the Misses Nalle Wadsworth, Betty Utter, Jane Fowler, Sally Baker, Carolyn Barnes, Mary Pyle, and Bertha Rub.

Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Bethel of Frank street are spending several months as the guests of Mrs. Bethel's mother, Mrs. C. H. Schmidt of St. Louis, Mo.

Another class which will be the senior class day program at 10 o'clock in the south court. Miss McKee is also chairman of the committee in charge, which includes:

The average flower-lover with a sense of color and form can arrange a tall vase or basket of flowers and achieve an artistic effect.

But to arrange a miniature bouquet in a container not more than four inches in height requires skill and practice. This is the reason why the Birmingham Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association has decided to feature miniature flower arrangement as one of the new classes in its annual flower show at the Community House, June 30.

Another is that many of the finest vases one finds in antique shops to be shown at the show. These days are small as if made to hold dainty little nosegays of long ago.

Other new classes this year which will interest to the show are those for the arrangement of flowers in a glass container, counting the other arrangement, and the arrangement of ranches.

'Countryside' Group Announces Spring Exhibit

The annual spring exhibit of the Countryside Association of the City of Detroit, which will be held at the home of Mrs. F. J. Sirrup at Green Lake Saturday afternoon.

In addition to the flower show, there will be a baked goods sale and a bridge to benefit welfare activities in West Bloomfield Township.

Mrs. George Lawton is in charge of flower arrangement and Mrs. Frank Holmes is chairman of the baked goods. Other members of the general committee include Mrs. C. W. Gregory, Mrs. Frank Callender, Mrs. A. Sempner, Mrs. Grantland Fenker, Mrs. Fred Ward, Mrs. W. F. Beckley, Mrs. Edward Stoddard, Mrs. Fred S. Stover, Mrs. Campbell Harvey, Mrs. A. D. Noble and Mrs. Norbert Kulavage.
