SCREEN, STAGE ..AND STUDIO..

By AUDEE ENCE

Hollywood has-beens of male gender are being groomed for possible contracts because of shortage of Romeo types. Male leads in fill-here roles are scarce, so directors turn to matinee idols of past. Among them, Nils Aster, who has improved his English was given new contract with M-G-M, after release several years ago.

Too Much Jingle?

"There is no stage in America today," says William S. Hart, western hero of a decade ago. Reason given by Bill is "because the incubators that bred actors, the stock companies and the road shows, are things of the past."

Too much money kills professional pride, Hart declares, and regrets possession of too much of former and not enough of latter with present day actors.

Couldn't Pay Rent

Earl Carroll and his "Vanities" moved Saturday from Carroll's new "dream house" theater. Disputes arose over reduction in rent asked by actor and refused by owners of theatery, who started dispossession proceedings when Carroll became three weeks in arrears.

"Hot Cha" Liked

Flo Zeigfeld's "Hot Cha" had premiere in Washington, D. C. last week and went over with bang. All melodies are tuneful, say critics, and comedy, furnished by Bert Lahr as toreador, Marjorie White and Lynn Overman, is called "funny." Buddy Rogers and June Knight give them a song in addition of piece, "You Can Make My Life a Bed of Roses." Show opened in N. Y. Tuesday.

Real Cigole

Dancing robot is newest Hollywood invention. In Paramount's production of "Dancers in the Dark," Miriam Hopkins is guided in footwork by mechanical partner with motion picture camera for head.

Automaton is electrically driven and gives audience impression of dancing with Miss Hopkins. Camera is mounted on cast iron base in which are rubber tired wheels on cam shafts. These can be adjusted for waltz, fox-trot, tango or straight walking. Wooden arm encircles Miss Hopkins, who also holds another arm protruding from other side of camera. Robot leads like any dancing partner. In long shots, Miss Hopkins is shown in arms of Jack Oakie.

Detroit Theaters

"The Blue Ghost," mystery play by Bernard McOwen and F. J. Rieverts, is attraction at Lafayette this week. Hunt for criminal ends in amusing and exciting surprise finish audience.

Ethel Waters is star in Lew Leslie's "Rhapsody in Black" at Cass.

Revival of "The Gold Diggers" is attraction at Civic. Avery Hopwood is author, and Ina Claire was first star to appear in it.

"The Revelers", well known to ether audiences, will give concert at Orchestra Hall Monday evening. Revelers created new type of ensemble singing by breaking away from quartet style to establish new manner of orchestral singing. They include four singers and pianist.

Life's Little Laughs

Heard In A Street Car

"Some of the girls look devilish pretty in those dinky little hats."

"Yes, and some of them look pretty devilish."

The Irrepressible Sex

"Strange there are so few women after dinner speakers."

"It's probably because they can't wait that long."

Foreign-Sounding Name

Constable (to speeding foreigner)— Ere, you mustn't go rushing about like that. What's yer name?

Speeding Foreigner—Je ne comprends pas.

Constable—'Ow d'yer spell it?

—Humorist.

On Exhibition

He (at seashore)—If the stones hurt Betty's feet as much as all that, why doesn't she wear shoes?

She—Because, stupid, she could not take a step walking down to the beach.—Humorist.

A German Slam

"Do you know the difference between a woman and a telephone?"

"No."

"Well, both repeat what they hear, but the telephone repeats it exactly as it hears it."—Die Wochensehan.

STARS OF RADIOLAND

Irvin S. Cobb

There are chuckles and laughs galore when Irvin S. Cobb, the humorist, is on the air, but preparing copy is serious business with him, as the photo indicates. Cobb draws on his wealth of stories, observations, anecdotes and experiences for his microphone chats. He began writing as a cub reporter in his home town, Paducah, Ky., but actually was launched on the literary career which swept him into fame on a New York newspaper in 1904.
