With the Adams Junior High Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, assisted by the grade students of Adams School, acting as crew, the audience at the operetta, "Seven Seas," to be presented in the Adams auditorium Friday night will be taken on a voyage to several of the world's most glamorous lands.

The production comprises the story of the good ship "Miracle." With Captain Bud Herbst at the helm, the crew, assisted nobly by the captain's sister, played by Carolyn Barnes, has many happy moments adventuring in foreign countries. The play, which has had two former productions in Birmingham, was written and is under the direction of the music instructor at the school, Mrs. Edith Corvill. She is being assisted by Mrs. Anne Corvill, who has charge of the dramatical parts. Approximately 50 Junior high and 150 grade students will take part in the performance. The sale of tickets is in charge of Wilbur Schleske, assisted by Bill Pratt and Oella Ford. Donald Hefferich is in charge of the production's publicity. Sparks Ignite Roof, Crackle Of Flames Awakens Sleeper

Awakened by the crackle of flames almost directly over his head early last Thursday morning, Kenneth Stokes, 227 Merrill street, was able to sound an alarm in time to prevent possible serious damage.

Mr. Stokes' wife and small child were also asleep in the hour when the fire, caused by sparks from a defective chimney, broke out. The flames were confined to a small hole in the roof, and the damage was slight, according to Fire Chief Vernon Griffith.

Mr. Stokes is a clerk in the Bloomfield Township offices. There are approximately 50,000,000 radio listeners in the United States.
