Local Council Appoints Examiners To Qualify Girl Scouts For Merit Badges

In preparation for the Girl Scout Court of Awards, May 21, the Birmingham Girl Scout Council announces a group of examiners who will conduct tests in various subjects ranging from archery to world affairs. Girl Scouts are required to pass these tests in qualifying for merit badges to be awarded at the Court.

The examiners announced by the Council are men and women who have specialized either as professionals or amateurs in the various fields represented by the different classes. The examiners are:

Archery: Carl Strand, Robert

The Highest Standard of Service

It isn't the elaborateness of a memorial service that makes the difference—it's the care and beauty that go into the planning.

An expert adviser will work with you sympathetically on any type of funeral service, and you may rely on us for the smallest detail.

IT'S AN ELECTROCHEF . . .

"Weary hours of work and drudgery, standing over a hot stove, the disagreeable task of scouring soot-blackened pots and pans and cleaning a grease-caked stove: My Electrochef ends these troubles forever. Jim doesn't realize what a burden he's lifted from my shoulders! My new Electrochef makes cooking a pleasure. I thoroughly enjoy using my range—it's so clean, so convenient, so modern in every way. Kitchen utensils stay as bright and shiny as when they were brand new—and no wonder! There is no flame, no smoke or soot to soil my kitchen walls and curtains—only pure heat from a glowing wire! It's such a change in cooking methods. All my friends admire the snow-white porcelain and sparkling chrome-plate finish of the range. It's really lovely . . . I think my Electrochef has made over my kitchen!"

BUDGET PAYMENT PLAN $10 FIRST PAYMENT installed, ready to cook. Balance small monthly payments. Sales under these conditions to Detroit Edison customers only.

Variety Marks Program For Scottish Choir Concert Here

Variety and individuality mark the program, announced yesterday, to be given by the Border Scottish Choir in the Community House Thursday, April 7, for the benefit of the Community House Milk Fund.

Besides several Scottish airs, the singing of which has given the choir its name, the program includes psalms, motets, madrigals, canzonets and folk songs.

The choir, well known after several years' of concert and radio appearances in this country as well as in Canada, is composed of 110 voices under the direction of H. Robertson. The concert is being sponsored by the Birmingham Rotary Club, one of the chief contributors to the Community House Milk Fund.

The complete program follows: PSALM TUNE: "Old Hundred," Genevan Psalm 151 (Faux Bourdon by Hugh S. Robertson).

CHORUSES: "Blue Bonnets over the Border," Arr. Hugh S. Robertson. "The Piper of Dundee," Arr. Purcell J. Mansfield.

MOTETS:

"I beheld her," Healey Willan. "The Three Kings," Healey Willan.

"Hosanna to the Son of David," Orlando Gibbons. MADRIGAL: "All creatures now are merry minded," John Benet.

CANZONET: "Fain would I change that note," Ralph Vaughan Williams. FOLK SONG: "The dark eyed sailor," Arr. Ralph Vaughan Williams.

CHORUS: "As torrents in summer," Edward Elgar. HAMPSTEAD FOLK SONG: "The Song of the Blacksmith," Arr. Gustav Holst.

SCOTTISH AIRS: "Alister McAlpine's Lament," Arr. Ralph Vaughan Williams. "The Macgregor's Gathering," Arr. Purcell J. Mansfield.

CHORUSES (Men's Voices): "An Island shelling song," Arr. Marjorie E. Porter. "Swanee Town," Arr. Gustav Holst.

CHORUSES: "The Song of Fionnuala," Arr. Granville Bantock. "The Campbells are comin'," Arr. Purcell J. Mansfield.

From A WOMAN'S ANGLE

By MARJORIE ELAINE PORTER

A cordial invitation is extended to all local Lotharios. Don Juans and the plain garden variety known as "Ladies Man" to look into the tune in on this and get a carful of advice from a woman who knows.

And what, more, she knows, she knows. It's an even money bet that every maid and matron found on the street will back me up nodding her head, affirm, "She's perfectly right."

So when you boys start out to make an impression, here's a nugget of gold to take with you in the way of sisterly advice.

Don't as you value your next date with the Only Girl, tell her she looks like another woman, unless that "other woman" is a Hollywood celebrity, or is safely remote from view in Martian jungles (or whatever they have up there).

It's dynamic, boys! Do you know what that girl will do? Nothing but make it her business to hunt up her "double." And Oh! Oh! Oscar! If that double doesn't measure up to her idea (modest as it may be) of her own beauty, it will be just too bad!

She'll either inform you with a sweet smile, someday that now she knows when you remind her of, it's Groucho Marx, or some other clown, or she will give you what dear old Grandpa called the "mittens." Synonym for same being "the air" in modern parlance.

Not that all girls are vain. Don't misunderstand. But, boys, we do like to think we're different. And to have every other man we meet tell us we look just like six other girls they know doesn't go over very big with any of us.

Here's another point. We girls consider more than the mere cast of countenance in such matters of comparison.

Weight is highly important. Take the case of those pleasingly plump girls and tell her she looks just like Dolly Doolittle, for instance.

You don't know it, but she has inside info on Dolly's weight, which happens to be five pounds, 13 and seven-eighths ounces more than her own.

her neck and shoulders are rounded out and that she's "slender" but no longer "thin," some well meaning scion of the House of Bungle tells her to look like the other girl weighing fifty 10 pounds less.

Was it Socrates, Shakespeare or just Ella Wheeler Wilcox who said "Comparisons are odious"? Whoever it was, said a wise mouthful.

Never tell your girl she looks like her nearest competitor, and if you tell her, she resembles another woman, you're due for the "Marche Funèbre."

In Mamma's case, there's not only weight but age to consider. Most delicate, my dear boy, is such a situation. You're sure to pick out a woman who went to school with Mamma's sister Minnie, and Sister Minnie was 12 years old when Mamma was born! Now tie that! Get yourself in such a jam, and get yourself out—if you can.

Little Chats About Your Health

Picking Up The Pilot

THOUGH he spends his life on the open sea, yet every good sailing master engages a pilot to steer his vessel safely into port. The pilot is familiar with shoals, bars, currents and dangers of every kind and by his aid a safe landing results.

Your physician is the pilot who can safely direct your course through many years of health and happiness if you will get his assistance promptly whenever illness first threatens.

We can only assist when medicine is prescribed. Then you will find ours to be the kind of service which makes the doctor's work most effective.

CLEANING without CRAFTSMANSHIP is like Bread without Salt

A PERFECT oven, and the finest ingredients, might make tempting, snow-white bread. But after all, it's the little pinch of salt—not too little—not too much—just the right amount—that really makes the loaf. Without it, the taste is gone. And no one likes flat and flavorless bread. Salt in bread is like craftsmanship in cleaning—it gives the finished product the finest quality—the fullest measure of value and good taste. Even the most modern cleaning facilities can produce limp and lustreless clothes. For those facilities must depend on the guiding hand of the craftsman to deliver the best that is in them. We realize this. And we give craftsmanship a free hand—depending upon this skill and knowledge to produce for our customers the finest in cleaning quality. Craftsmanship in cleaning, backed by our constant, efficient supervision, means fresh, lustrous clothes. And our customers have always enjoyed this high standard of quality.
