Literary Club To Plant Memorial Tree In Honor Of Mrs. Retta M. Barr

A living tribute will be paid to the memory of the late Mrs. Retta M. Barr by the Birmingham Women's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon, when a memorial tree will be planted by the club on grounds of Baldwin Park's library.

The tree, which will be of a different variety, according to Mrs. Helen Bruns, president of the club, will be planted by the club to perpetuate the memory of the many years of service devoted by Mrs. Barr to the Baldwin Park Library both as a member and president of the board. Mrs. Barr resigned from the office of president shortly before her death in November.

The club also desires to memorialize the service to the organization of which Mrs. Barr was president for the year 1910-1911, Mrs. Bruns explained.

The tree planting ceremony will be one of a hundred programs given under auspices of the literary department of the club, of which Mrs. Bruns is chairman.

The program will include appropriate musical numbers and an informal talk on gardens by a representative of the Birmingham chapter of the American National Farm and Garden Association.
