Movie And Political Stars

Perhaps one of the imost criticised places to attain and hold it rate of theing a successful talking picture star. In these strendous days all the boys and girls who draw thoge salates in Hollywood may not have a great deal of what the world calls intelligence; but they certainly must be possessed of those things necessary to create personalities of first magnitude among the glaskies of stardom that illumine "the great white 'wp'". All of which suggests that an equal portion of real interest in public officials by citizens, plus a fair criticism of them, will give the American Isaapsers a galaxy of civile leaders worth the name. So, when the average citizen is willing to devote an 'insurpers' a galaxy of civile leaders worth

I Pearson was beteuring in Detroit last week and among a things he discussed were two types of lobbying. One of them is the becret alliences that bankers and industrialistic carry on with members of Congress, the other is the open kind reserved to by such groups is the boinus army. Pearson told his audience that the secret kind of lobbying is the most periocious, because it is done sinder cover. We wonder if Pearson's convictions are not based upon his perional experiences as an anontymous co-author of the two books he and Evans) wrogs.
