The Quincecentric is pleased to publish stories of events that have great value and which are of public interest.
The editorial staff of the paper, all of whom are members of the staff, are endeavoring to make such special changes in the paper as may be necessary to the style of the paper.

That is what is going on in the United States today. Private industry and financial leadership have failed to function co-operatively. The head of one huge financial enterprise sits on his money bags, afraid to trust those occupying similar positions in other institutions, and thus we witness complete stagnation of the financial structure of our nation.

Why can't our manufacturing industry be carried on as it has been in the past? Why can't we have a normal economy? Why can't we have a normal economy? Why can't we have a normal economy? Why can't we have a normal economy?

THE MISSING FRIEND
I had a friend named Business. He used to live with me. He had a small fish should be cooked. He had a small fish should be cooked. He had a small fish should be cooked.

THE ROAD WARD
It is a sad and sorry business which has been going on since the war. It is a sad and sorry business which has been going on since the war. It is a sad and sorry business which has been going on since the war.

Opportunity
I do not mean, you say, I come no more. When once I knock and fail to find you in, every day I stand outside your door, and bid you wake and rise up fight and win.

Good Work, Fellows
The Birmingham Fellowship Club is to be commended for its sponsorship of a series of weekly lectures and entertainments for the city's unemployed.

Starting Over Again
The world in which you live has been living in a state of turmoil since the first of the year. It has seemed impossible to us here, under the stress of world readjustment, melted down like ice on a hot summer's day.

Political Blah, Blah, Blah!
Governor Wilber M. Brucker told week that the Wyandotte Exchange club members that we have a limited guarantee of deposits if we are to see confidence returned. This does not mean that we are going to subsidize poor banking—that we are going to encourage them. It does mean that we are going to put safety ahead of profits—that are going to be millions of small depositors know that the Government is actually behind them.

Existence in these times is difficult enough under any circumstances. Without any pleasures at all in life, one becomes well-nigh unbearable. If Birmingham's unemployed, as the C. B. estimates, there are about 100, can be carried away, then their trouble, even though for only two or three hours each week, the project should develop out solid value.

STATE BANKERS' LAMENT
Ask the average country banker or one who is to blame for the present condition of his bank. Right off he will tell you that it is the state banking department, which told him to buy bonds, that he had to buy bonds, that he had to buy bonds, that he had to buy bonds.

When you're talking about strengthening the safety of banking—especially State banking—after Rudolph Brucker quit his job as State Banking Commissioner to become President of the busted American State Bank in Detroit, a job that lasted less than a week in the "folks" vote, as Governor gave him the job in Lansing. Perhaps, Mr. Brucker, you're not all the people that Mr. Michener didn't know about when the American State Bank's serious condition or he might not have taken a job that lasted only a week in Detroit.

ROOSEVELT IS SAID to have started the ball rolling toward prosperity. Let's hope that it goes straight to the plate, and that the batter socks it for a home run!
