CRANBROOK CHURCH TO BE SCENE OF WEDDING

Couple To Speak Marriage Vows At Afternoon Ceremony

Reception At Devon Gables Will Follow Nuptial Service For Miss Somers

A midsummer nuptial ceremony will be solemnized in Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Ruth Somers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Somers of Dayton, O., and Clarence E. Stricker, son of Otto E. Stricker of Detroit, will speak their marriage vows.

Preceding the ceremony, Sanford Allen will give an organ recital, concluding with the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march to herald the approach of the bridal party. The nuptial service will be read by the Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, assistant rector of the church.

For her wedding gown, Miss Somers has selected a Susanne model of white museline de soi, made with bands of hemstitching and fashioned along Princess lines. The close fitting bodice is made with high neckline and ruffles falling over the arms to form a cape effect. The skirt is close-fitting to the knee, from which it flares to floor length. A sash combining the rainbow colors will adorn the waistline, tied at the left side in a large bow, with streamers falling to the hem of the skirt.

In place of a veil, Miss Somers will wear a white silk turban, draped with white tulle. A bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and valley lilies, tied with white tulle, will complete the bridal costume.

Miss Earl Hendricks of Charleston, W. Va., who will attend her sister as maid of honor, will wear a Susanne model of blue lace, made also on Princess lines.

A short jacket will adorn the bodice, and the skirt will be made similarly to that of Miss Somers' gown, flaring below the knees. Mrs. Hendricks will wear a picture hat of blue horsehair, trimmed with a satin bow in matching shades. She will carry a bouquet of garden flowers combining yellow and white dahlias and delphinium.

Miss Orma White, who will attend Miss Somers as bridesmaid, will wear a gown of yellow Georgette crepe, made with an Eton jacket with puff sleeves, and full skirt made close fitting to the knees, and flaring to ankle length. Her hat will be of a large picture type, similar to that of the maid of honor, but of yellow linen, trimmed with yellow Georgette crepe. The bridesmaid's bouquet will also combine the garden flowers, with delphinium predominating.

George Arvidson of Detroit will assist Mr. Stricker as best man, and Mervin Shepherd and George G. Steelman of Birmingham will seat the guests.

A reception at Devon Gables will follow the ceremony, after which the bridal couple plan to leave for a brief motor trip, returning to Detroit where they will reside.

Orchard Lake Sailors Win Third Race In Series of International Regattas

Winning by a margin of 165 to 132, skippers of Orchard Lake Country Club were victorious in the third annual dinghy regatta against sailors of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto at Orchard Lake Sunday.

The victory was gained on the point score as the Orchard Lake sailors lost two of the three races run. Warren S. Booth, with James R. Mock as crew, won the first race, in which 12 boats competed. Clark Bennett, with Harold Brock as crew, finished second for Orchard Lake in the same race.

Leslie Scott of the Canadian Club, with Jack Wright as crew, defeated the Orchard Lake Craft in the second race. A favorable wind, which came up as the boats were about 10 feet from the finish line, enabled the Canadian boat to nose ahead of the Orchard Lake dinghy, manned by Paul L. Penfield and Capt. H. Ledyard Towle, giving the decision to Mr. Scott and Mr. Wright of the Toronto Club.

Mr. Booth and Mr. Mock took third place in the second race. In the third event, the Toronto Club triumphed again, with Jack Bennet and Donald Cornish the winners. C. Theron Van Dusen and Arthur Griswold of Orchard Lake won second place.

The races were held over a four-mile course, with each club offering seven craft. Orchard Lake's victory was its first in a series of three regattas with the Canadian Club, the other two going to Toronto.

Skippers for the Orchard Lake Club were Mr. Van Dusen, team captain; Hugh W. Hitchcock, F. S. Strong, Jr., Mr. Penfield, Mr. Booth and Mr. Bennet.

Vernon B. Myers, Dr. Campbell Harvey and James R. Mock acted as alternates. Those assisting as crew included Captain Towle, J. Robert F. Swanson, Mr. Broock, Arthur S. Griswold, Waldemar P. Youth Must Have Character To Hold Jobs, Myers Warns

Moral Qualities, Good Work Habits Needed Along With Education, He Says

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Department Parent Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

IN THE PROSPERITY ahead, take virtually any job I thought I could do well or learn to do well, regardless of the pay. If I thought the compensation far beneath my deserving, I'd charge the difference to self-discipline, to growth in my character. I do believe one of the most essential traits of character is the ability to keep diligently at a job begun, doing it as well as I can.

Of course, some young folk have had so much advice from their elders that these youth tend to grow callous to it, and turn deaf ears. But if any young reader can stand a few more sermonizing words, I should like to advise him to work out a more definite program now for self-improvement, job or no job.

Dr. Garry C. Myers

Once you are employed, let me beg of you that after you have studied some time each day for recreation, you also set aside some time each day for serious study, though it be no more than half an hour. With the fine public libraries available, the night schools, and correspondence schools, nearly everyone can, if he has the stuff in him, get a higher education, even with little or no money, or with only the use of some self-discipline, some diligence and self-engineering.

I believe all of us could afford to give a little attention to some of the virtues which seem almost to have been forgotten.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in stamps or coin, in a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear."

FINE WORK

IT IS A PLEASURE to watch as fine bidding and playing as the hand below brought out. North and South were vulnerable. East and West had no score.

	♠ A Q J 10 7 ♥ A 9 4 ♦ 4 ♣ K 7 3 2
♠ None ♥ K 10 8 5 ♦ A Q 10 9 5 ♣ A 8 5 4	West East South	♠ K 8 4 2 ♥ Q 7 3 2 ♦ 8 2 ♣ Q 10 9
	♠ 9 6 5 3 ♥ J 6 ♦ K J 7 6 3 ♣ J 6

West opened a diamond, second hand with 1-Diamond, and bidding went on: North, 1-Spade; East, 1-No Trump, to show some values but no suitable suit; West, 2-Clubs; North, 2-Spades; East, 3-Clubs; West, 3-Hearts. North easily read that West had five diamonds, four clubs with a quick trick at least, and four very poor hearts. North passed. Last saw that 4-odd might be made, either at clubs or hearts, but that game at clubs must be almost out of the question, so he closed bidding with 4-Hearts, doubled by North.

North could not open spades without losing a trick. Clubs and diamonds were poor openings, so North led his Ace of hearts, followed by the 4. West's K won the second trick. He led a small club towards dummy. North declined to win the trick. Dummy's Q won.

The 8 of diamonds was led. South covered with his J. Declarer's Q won. West led his low trump. North's 6 fell to dummy's Q. The 2 of diamonds was led. South covered with his 6, and declarer's 9 held the trick. North discarded his lowest spade. The declarer led his Ace of diamonds. North and dummy let go spades. When the declarer led a club at the ninth trick, North won with his K, giving his side its second trick, with very poor cards to defeat the doubled contract. Unless North could win a spade trick and his partner could win a diamond trick there was no hope of beating 4-odd, but it was useless for North to lead his Ace of spades, setting up a trade trick in dummy, before the diamond trick was won by South. That player would lead a spade if he ever had the opportunity.

North made his exit by leading his losing club, putting the declarer in the lead, and giving him his eighth trick. Dummy and South discarded spades. Dummy ruffed a low diamond from declarer's hand. The declarer trumped a low spade from dummy, giving the declarer his 4-odd, and completing the twelfth trick. South won the third and last defensive trick with a diamond.

The bidding developed an unusual feature. West held four clubs and four hearts. Clubs were biddable but hearts were not biddable, according to ordinary standards. That is why West wisely bid clubs first, knowing that East would not support hearts upon less than four of the suit and a high honor. The whole strategy was good.
