

LONG VACATION PLAN DROPPED

1933-34 School Calendar Provides for Two Weeks At Christmas

Virtually all probability of a month's vacation at Christmas time for Birmingham school students disappeared last Thursday night with the adoption by the Board of Education of a calendar for the 1933-34 school year which limits the Christmas recess to the usual two weeks.

The calendar, "subject to such changes as circumstances may require," was recommended by Superintendent Charles W. Crandall, and follows closely the outline of the 1932-33 schedule.

Mr. Crandall had previously recommended a Christmas vacation of one month, and the Board of Education, while taking no action on the recommendation, set the date for the opening of schools at Sept. 11. Later this date was changed to Sept. 18, after several requests had been received from residents of the district.

In presenting the calendar providing for only a two-week vacation, Mr. Crandall said the postponement of the opening date had caused him to change his recommendation.

The calendar calls for a nine-month school year, as provided in the budget. A 100 per cent collection of school taxes will be necessary if the nine months are to be completed without state aid, however. The complete calendar follows:

1933
Monday, Sept. 18—First semester begins.
Friday and Saturday, Oct. 13 and 14—Michigan Education Association Sixth District meeting at Detroit.
Thursday and Friday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1—Thanksgiving recess.
Friday, Dec. 22—Christmas vacation begins.
1934
Wednesday, Jan. 3—School resumes.
Thursday, Jan. 25—Mid-year commencement.
Friday, Jan. 26—First semester ends.
Monday, Jan. 29—Second semester begins.
