Business Effect Of NRA Related

Retarians Lay Trade Decline and Recent Revival to Recovery Program. A novel program, consisting of a brief symposium to indicate the effect on the retail business, was staged by Birmingham Rotarians at the Community House Monday noon. Forbes S. Haswell, chairman of the club's vocational service committee, was in charge of the program. The symposium took the form of answers to a questionnaire, the correlated facts of which revealed that the retail business had dropped in striking retail lines, but was again picking up.

Bits O' Birmingham

The Birmingham Trading Post is looking for a new home. The barter-and-exchange center which has branched out steadily since its inauguration last March, and now has more than 800 listed patrons, is to be held in the Community House in the old Hill School building. Santa Claus, with a Christmas present and a well-filled stocking for every child, will be given Tuesday evening at the Legion Home by the American Legion Auxiliary for the children of members of the Charles Edwards Post. Mrs. Frank S. Packard and Mrs. Jean Cole are open to suggestions for a new location. A radio program of special interest to Birmingham people is scheduled to begin Tuesday morning over WXIX, Royal Oak. The artist will be A. Stanley Ross, organist at the First Baptist Church in Birmingham. Birmingham Boy Scouts have invited the public to attend a feather party to be held in the Community House at 8 P. M. next Wednesday. Oliver H. Kirk's capabilities as an attorney are fairly well known to most people in Birmingham, but lately he has revealed another talent which he himself did not know until recently that he possessed.
