

1933 State Legislature Makes Shocking Record

In the months one whom "desires" are elected, whose purposes are malivorous. This report, lobby and Lebovitz subjects alike, are made a part of the official journal of the House of Representatives of the great State of Michigan in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three.

The report, as it appears in the official journal for future generations, is a record of the Legislature of 1933. The Governor, quoted in the report and the journal, has the Governor confessing that "He (Lebovitz) is a friend of mine." A student of state history, a century from now will also learn that the Honorable Lebovitz was a generous contributor to the campaign funds of William A. Cooch in at least two themselves by the judiciary committee in the Senate and they too are here to make history while taxpayers still continue to dig up for three time salary check.

Revision of the statutes governing the department of labor and industry, intended to merge and solidify departmental activities and cut down on personnel, were because of the demands for democratic patronage, while similar measures intended to cut severely into the number engaged in the work of the public utilities commission met a similar fate because the Republicans still held forth in that department and partisan supporters did not care to violate the law. The taxpayer still pays in both these instances.

Then, too, there is that $75,000 savings which would have been made possible by the adoption of the commission recommendations regarding a reduced personnel and reduced pay for Senate and House session employees. The House measure, a reduced personnel and reduced pay for Senate and House session employees. The House measure, a reduced personnel and reduced pay for Senate and House session employees.

Still more history was made. Never before did the entire membership of the Senate return for the final adjournment and never before did 96 members of the House show up for roll call on that day. Every district side of the straits was represented except the Alameda district and only illness prevented Representative Cameron from answering "here."

What happened in the remainder of the session? The House had to do with removing statutory salaries for judicial and quasi-judicial county and district officers and in reducing statutory salaries for circuit and supreme court judges. Most of these bills in modified form finally emerged from the judiciary committee of the House and went passed. They went to the waiting pigeon holes prepared for ed, William M. Donnelly, temporarily assumed the role of a modern Legree and swung the party, who attempt to conceal his purpose or the threats being made. Again history.

During the session some weeks ago a certain bill was introduced which would have severely cut into the revenues of an important state department. It was pointed out, as a variety of swimmers will do the stretch in 17 seconds. This is exceptional time for a boy his age.

It would appear that this is a reasonable position and one in which most school officers will concur. If it should prove practical, it should prove most valuable in support of further state aid, through special legislative enactment.

Favors Broad Curriculum. In the spirit of this resolution, passed by this representative group of school board members, I recommend that in its budgetary proceedings for the year 1933-34, this Board adopt a budget which will permit the schools to operate as of the beginning of the school year 1933-34. Further, that the school term for 1933-34 begin either Sept. 11 or 18, 1933, and run, if possible, for nine months, with one month's vacation at Christmas time. Factors influencing this portion of my recommendation are: 1. The long summer vacation began May 26, makes in-
