Visitors Feted By Hosts And Friends

Glanicing over the names of Birmingham hostesses entertaining out-of-town guests this week, one finds those of both Mrs. Harold S. Lauer of Puritan road and Mrs. John F. Reeder of Westwood drive.

Mrs. Lauer's guests, who are Mr. and Mrs. Harley Caywood of St. Louis, Mo., will arrive Saturday in time to attend, with their hosts, the dinner dance at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Mrs. Reeder is expecting her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wheel of Ho-Ho-Kus, Ill., early Sunday. The same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Dinsley of Linden road will entertain informally in their honor.

Mrs. Lauer and Mrs. Reeder will be joint hostesses at a bridge breakfast at Devon Gables Monday morning for Mrs. Caywood and Mrs. Cheel. The same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Reeder will be hosts at dinner at their home, for Mr. and Mrs. Cheel.

Mrs. Edward E. Rothman of Westley drive will entertain luncheon Tuesday, complimenting Mrs. Cheel. She has invited, besides the hostess and her hostess, Mrs. Lauer, Mrs. Caywood, Mrs. Thomas Walton, Mrs. Roger Emmers and Mrs. Howard W. Gans.

Mrs. L. J. Hannah of Westley drive is spending several days in Louisville, Ky., where she is visiting her mother, Mrs. B. B. Barbee.

Golden Eaglet Is Awarded To Birmingham Girl Scout

Another Golden Eaglet was added to the chapter awards won by Birmingham Girl Scouts Tuesday at the Court of Awards held at Maxwell Farms near Wadington, Mich.

This year's winner of the Eaglet which is the highest of all Girl Scout awards, was Rita Wellman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wellman of Sullied road and a member of Troop I. The Eaglet was the seventh to be won in Birmingham, the others having been awarded on former occasions to Mary and Roxanne Lambie, Jane and Marion Fowler, Carolyn Salisbury and Donna Russell.

The Court of Awards took the form of a picnic with luncheon and a play directed by Miss Miriam Brown. About 30 came bearing scouts and their mothers. A large number of Girl Scout women wore badges in different branches of the work varying from athletic achievements to woodcraft and animal lore, to home-making, nursing, and scholarship. Others achieved the distinction of second class scout.

In Troop I, Scouts to win badges included Emmaline Crown, Yveta Martin, Elaine Porter, Stella Porter, Barbara Sears, Ruth Smith, Betty Scott, Martha and Elizabeth White.

Three members of Troop II who won their badges were Betty Elliott, Mildred Lynch and Betty Ann Pease. Badge-winners in Troop III included Cameron Biggers, Bobette Wiley, Nell Wasey, Kitty Ruthenburg, Matha Ann Mullinger, Jean McKinney, Susan Hartman, Charlotte Dabois and Margaret Alice Corryell.

Those in Troop IV winning badges were Dorothy Estes and Jane Hyde. In Troop V awards were made to Mary Drury, Gay Leroy, Mildred Dale, Elizabeth Richey, Virginia Maunfrees, Mary Jane Kinison and Betty Brockway.

Twelve Scouts in Troop VII also received badges. They were: Jean Baird, Betty Harrack, Barbara Johnson, Dorothy McCormick, Ruth Smith, Margaret Twilliger, Alice Painter, Virginia Moss, Ruth Roberts and Agnes Crawford.

New Chairmen Named By League President

Several prominent Birmingham women active in social and civic affairs have been selected by Mrs. August H. Bay of Wadington drive, league president of the Birmingham League of Women Voters, to hold the reins of leadership in the work of the organization next year.

Mrs. C. R. Eaton of Drury road is the new chairman of the committee on civics and government. Mrs. James B. Sappal of Wadington drive will handle the educational committee, and Mrs. Charles J. Smith of Purse road will direct the work on program.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

GENERAL OFFICES
1000 SECOND AVENUE
DETROIT, MICHIGAN
May 22, 1933

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

This is the eighth in a series of weekly letters addressed to our 500,000 customers in 39 Michigan towns, 58 villages and 150 townships in the southeastern corner of the State of Michigan.

There are power plants in which electric energy is produced for us by steam power, at four different places: at Delray and at Connors Creek in Detroit; at Marysville on the St. Clair River, just south of Port Huron; and on the Trenton Channel of the Detroit River, below Tranton. The last named is the largest of the four. These are interconnected by transmission lines on high steel towers, and by cables laid underground in the cities, so that each power plant can help out its neighbor on either side.

The electric current does not go directly from the power houses to your house connections. It is received and transformed to an intermediate pressure of 4800 volts, to be distributed to the transformers which serve most of your pretty close to being served as if it were holy writ. It reads — "The Service Must Not Fail." It is not always as simple as it sounds. Sometimes, storm and lightning and snow make it a difficult job. We must keep God (as our legal friends call them) are not our only worries. We must have enough of the plants in condition to meet our demands for current, no matter how sudden, and it takes two years to build and install a generator. We must ever be ready for the unexpected. Some of the unexpected turns out to be calamity and there is — well, you can see the rest. In that case we must be ready to clean up the mess and get service going smoothly again.

The men employed by us are thoroughly trained to control and regulate and test the lines and equipment. Whether it be a 70,000 horse-power steam turbine or a five ampere fuse plug, the Edison man assigned to see that its functions properly must know his job and must attempt faithfully to do it.

The Detroit Edison Company is an important factor in the social, commercial and industrial life of Detroit and southeastern Michigan. It recognizes its unique position and fully appreciates that it could not exist except for the support of the community.

The Detroit Edison Company's interests are identical with those of its customers. We cannot succeed except through your success. Therefore, we believe that we should render adequate electric service at an acceptable price — a price that is fair. By the assurance that we accomplish this, our own success will be measured.

We do an honest job because we know that is the one way that we can have a continuing successful business.
