Women Voters Will Hold Meeting Monday

The Birmingham League of Women Voters will convene for its regular meeting at the Community Center at 2 P. M. Mrs. Frank W. Bowles, president, announced today.

Plans for organizing women's voting power in Birmingham to be presented by Mrs. E. S. Toothacker, who has been elected to the League by Mrs. Charles J. Shan.

Mrs. Shan, who attended the Conference on the Causes and Cure of Unemployment, will preside over a discussion of recording secretary qualified by Mrs. E. A. Hubbard that of corresponding secretaries of the League.

Following the program, League members will conduct a "White Elephant" tea. Mrs. George W. Beaman is chairman of the committee, which is composed of William Cost Allen, Mrs. L. Ford Merritt, Mrs. W. Dale Weitzel and Mrs. Earl A. Thompson.

Frank J. W. Young addressed the Civic Club of Birmingham on the school scrap plan in Birmingham afternoon.

In the club's affairs as director of the new program committee Mrs. Oscar A. Salomon, Mrs. Fred Peabody and Mrs. W. Clark Wright.

Following the luncheon, a program arranged by Mrs. Francis C. Kirby and Mrs. Robert Phillips and dedicated to Chicago's "Century of Progress" was presented by the club.

Mrs. Alice Chapman Wright, whose exhibition "The Home and Industrial Art Exhibit," revealed the interesting fact that Birmingham would be represented in this exhibit by Carl Stumpf of "Strangers' Farms" on Adams and will contribute one of eight small home types featuring modern design.

Adams' exhibit, Mrs. Wright told the club, will be a small home constructed of sheet steel with baked-on finish.

Frank J. T. Ellerby opened his program with a resume of "Chicago Through the Ages."

"Back in 1893 there was in Chicago another World's Fair, the 4th International Exposition," he said.

"The fair of 1893 was housed in temporary buildings of wood, and must have been a 'Century of Progress' in itself," he said.

"If those who built that fair could be shown how we have progressed since, they would be greatly pleased."

"In 1933 in motor cars, airplane, boats and railroads, they would have strained the imagination of those who attended," he said.

"The fair of 1893 was housed in temporary buildings of wood, and must have been a 'Century of Progress' in itself," he said.

"If those who built that fair could be shown how we have progressed since, they would be greatly pleased."

"The local display of Girl Scouts, that was shown in the corner of West Maple Avenue and Pierre street, will continue this week."
