Bits O' Birmingham

Two Birmingham faces were very different not so long ago when they began peering around at the unfamiliar features of guests in the wrong party. It happened this way, the Wanderer learns:
A woman and his wife, invited to a pot-luck dinner, lugged from home a freezer full of ice cream. Admitted by the hostess to the freezer directly into the kitchen, but began to feel a bit uneasy when they filed back into the dining room and noticed that the other guests, unlike themselves, were in formal clothes. Finally a woman, apparently the hostess, advanced toward the puzzled pair.
"Informed that so-and-so lived here, they were not in the wrong house?" she asked.
"Why, doesn't so-and-so live here?" she asked.
"Informed that so-and-so lived here, they were not in the wrong house?" she asked.
"Why, doesn't so-and-so live here?" she asked.
"Informed that so-and-so lived here, they were not in the wrong house?" she asked.
