Michigan State BORIU ISSUE
Michigan State officials are now waging a campaign to "put over" the $18,000,000.00 Public Works bondi siuse, to be voted on April 30. Vern J. Brown, Ingham Country newspaper publisher and State Representative, who really wrote the bond issue bill, wants to see it approved, "provided, of course, that the Governor makes it plain that the money will be spent outside the realm of practical politics." Mr. Brown feels as do many others, that the caliber of some of our State officials makes it hard to believe that they can be trusted to be statesmen.

Too Much Local Speeding

TOO MUCH LOCAL SPECIAINS
We respectfully call to the attention of Chief of Police John Hackett this: Too many motorists, grownups and children, of both sexes, use too many of our local streets as specdways. With the return of Spring, and the playing of children out-of-doors, motorists should be compelled to operate at a safe and reasonable speed.
A campaign to remind motorists of this is in order.

Comstock's Example

Isaiah Leebvec, confidant and former financial-backer during Governor Comstock's campaign, is said to have reaped $270,000 in dividends from his oil leases, but has not paid a single cent to those who furnished $12,000 in capital to start the wells. Neither did Mr.
Leebove furnish all desired legal information to State officials relative to his business activities. Well, since the Governor himself has refused to file details of his own election expense, can Leebove be censured for following in the evasive footsteps of his pal?

Controlling The Movies

Congress was recently asked by one of its members to create a nine-man motion picture censorship board, to see that no justice in 'harmful to the public or any part thereof in any respect.' This legislation sought to place the government—which is the political party in control. We are glad that the Bill is side-tracked. It was only a further effort to control public sentiment. The federal government made such a poor success of its co-called control over the movies. It is not such any further political effort to regulate this industry from so centralized a place as Washington can only harm the public interest, in our opinion.

Help Michigan Dairymen

Michigan is entering into a nation-wide movement to teach people to eat more of the products of the dairy farmer. That means that if we drink more milk, eat more butter, cheese, ice cream, etc., the problem of surplus will be diminished, and the farmer will in the end receive more for his labors. It is pointed out that people in Michigan and other States should discriminate by refusing to purchase items made of coconnut oils from foreign countries, or made of program of education being carried on by Michigan sugar beet growers who have greatly increased the home market use of sugar made from products grown
"at home."

Guiding Our Youth

Local plans to assis Birmingham youth in the selection of vocations, being guided by G. A. Ziegler, of Madison avenue, will eventually mean much to many of tomorrow's citizens. Mr. Ziegler, aided by other local men and women, hopes to see in motion a Yocational Guidance Council that will fit into the gap that now exists between the study-world and the world of reality; the Council will become a sort of bridge to plan that awsome and dangerous chasm into which so many unguided youth fall. Such a guidance plan is needed greatly; it deserves the cooperation of all dults. And some day, in later years, more than one grown man will rise to call those who, helped him olessed.

An Humble Man

An HUMDIE MAN
Thomas D. Lynch, for 24 years a familiar figure among local businessmen, passed to his reward last week. While Mr. Lynch never sought high places among the affair of men, he did earn a place of considerable esteem in the hearts of those who knew him well. For "Tom," as he was venerably called, was confent to walk the humble paths of life; his voice was never raised raucously in any public clamor. He attended, faithfully and to the best of his ability, thoseduties conferred upon him by his friends, his neighbors, and his community.

TWENTY-RIGHT-YEAR-OLD RICHARD J. RIYNOLDS, whose father gathered the money that millions of smokers burned in tobacco, has just come into a fortune of twenty-five millions of dollars. Now he will be required to assume responsibility for that huge fortune, and we'll wager that from now on he is less happy than he has been without it.

DON'T THINK I've ever gotten over it. It was a great shock and I broaded over it for weeks and donnths. Even as I think of it now and write about it, I feel myself getting into a rage against that unknown, unconscionable, grand and petty thief who stole my treasure.

It was a terrible thing for him to do and I hope he lost it before holds to be a stole with the couldn't have suffered as I did. . . Not possibly.
