

It is no disgrace to make a mistake, even a very serious one. But, as victims of old delusions, the real test is in making the same mistake over again. This old delusion has brought much hardship to the human race. Fortunate indeed are those who resolve to build more deeply on Character's foundation.

The World At A Glance

The Divergence From Roosevelt Sudden Dictatorships This Summer—And Next Winter
By LESLIE EICHEL, Contributing Writer
NEW YORK, April 26.—The divergence from President Roosevelt's policy of moderation and conservatism, who believe he has gone too far, is being expressed by the homes who escaped were hanged—children in their own homes.
All that is not likely to occur in the United States as long as people may express their views freely and vote freely, as long as press and radio and public statements remain unscrutinized, and as long as Congress and other legislative bodies function, the President himself has said more than once. Yet, the progressives, such administration tries to get a firmer stranglehold on Congress. Little fear is felt in Washington of a "Roosevelt dictatorship," but fear is expressed for the future because of precedents established in an emergency.
SOCIAL STRUCTURE
Next winter will prove the critical one for the "Roosevelt discovery," the extreme left says. The proof will come then whether it is possible to rebuild from the old foundations, they say, or whether the contentions is that the entire social structure will have to be rebuilt from the bottom.
THIS SUMMER
Wall Street shows a general rise in business during the next several months, at least.
Collective bargaining, of course, is an issue, but a more potent one is the rising cost of living.
And if taxes have anything to do with the cost of living, that is the cost of living, not the contentions rising even if inflationary processes are stopped.
The program will be difficult one for the "little man."
TAXLESS HOMES
Necessary for communities to agree to tax dwelling houses—in order to have them built.
Shortage in new houses may become acute within a year. Yet people who have the money hesitate to build for fear that taxes will make their home a prison.

LIBRARIANS' ROUND TABLE SCHEDULED
Headmaster Of Cranbrook To Address Here
Between 75 and 100 librarians and staff members of libraries in Detroit, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Ann Arbor, Port Huron, Mt. Clemens, Flint, Monroe, Adrian and other cities are expected to attend a round table meeting in Birmingham Friday, sponsored by the Michigan Library Association.

The principal speaker will be Dr. William O. Stevens, headmaster of Cranbrook School, who will talk at 2 P. M. on "Children's Reading." All features of the round table will be open to the public, including Dr. Stevens' address. The meeting will be open at 10:30 A. M. with a demonstration of book lending by Mrs. Emma Gaylord, head of the County Library, an exchange of books between the representatives of the various libraries in the Michigan Library Association will be held, and an exhibit of a collection of books for adolescent girls, prepared by Miss Letitia M. Quinn of Kingswood School Cranbrook.

A talk, entitled "On the Up Side," by Miss Ruth Ruten of the Detroit Public Library at 11 A. M. will be followed at 11:30 by reports and a discussion concerning help to be given to libraries from the C. W. A. and what has been accomplished by local efforts. The reports will be given by Mrs. Ann Crocker of Mt. Clemens, Mrs. Katharine Shellen of Highland Park, Mrs. Eugene E. Adams of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Bragg of Royal Oak.

Lunch will be served the visitors at the Community House at 12:45 P. M., when a welcome will be extended by J. B. Howarth, secretary of the Baldwin Public Library.

The Stevens' talk will be preceded at 2:30 P. M. by a lecture on "The Future of the Book," given by Mrs. Fred Booth, a member of the Library Board.

Purely Personal
State law requires that partisan election boards must be in charge at the polls for Monday's special election, and Irene Hanley will tell you it was no easy job to find, in equal numbers, persons who would swear they were Republicans or Democrats. She finally got the following to declare they are Republicans: Mrs. Robert Chisum, Mrs. Clara H. Ogden, Mrs. James W. Cobb, Mrs. Winifred Burkman, B. J. Merow, George Winborn, E. A. Blumberg, Hazel Dennison, Mrs. Manley Bailey, Robert Towanda, and Mrs. Rosa Coburn. . . and the following to embrace the principles of Democracy: Mrs. Jean Cole, Percy Burnett, Mrs. Irwin Kelly, Mrs. Edna Connelly, Mrs. Fred Schultz, Mrs. Mary Gravelin, Mrs. Clara Stewart, Mrs. Otto Beier and Mrs. Ernest Bailey. . . They'll receive about 40 cents a hour.

Gus O'Dell, Bloomfield Hills justice of the peace, performed his fifth marriage ceremony Saturday morning, uniting a young couple from Saginaw. . . At the Commission meeting Monday night, Mrs. Gordon Bailey got Mayor Allen's promise to deliver a proclamation for Emory Day May 20th. Police Sergeant Delye Service, who turned his back Saturday when the rear wheel of his motor cycle hit a curb as he was driving out of the court back of the Municipal Building, was back on duty Tuesday.

If everybody were as interested in the Community House as willing to work, as Mrs. Harold Blood, there wouldn't be much question about the success of the roll call. . . She's lived in Birmingham only since last September, too. . . Is any woman in Birmingham better natured than Mrs. Marjorie Pease, and any man than Mr. A. A. Baumgardner, former president of a journal fraternity. . . Personal nomination for the title of one of Birmingham's best looking women, Mrs. Fred Booth. . . Robert L. Partlan, son of Mr. and Mrs.
