

Of one thing you may be very sure; the government under which you live, upon which you depend for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, can shelter you safely only in proportion to the morals of its people. A debased people is reflected in a debased government.

COUNTY FEAR SHOWS PROFIT

Attendance Records Broken On Thursday And Saturday

The fifty-fourth annual Oakland County fair closed Saturday after making enough money to insure the continuance of the fair next year, according to officials. Attendance records were broken on two days, Thursday and Saturday, to the gratification of the association.

Many and hair-raising were the feats of daring performed before the record crowds. One of the most popular attractions was J. Ward Bean's "Congress of Daredevils," stunt automobile and motorcycle riders.

Entrants in the motorcycle race included Farmer Nimmo, champion of the Northwest; Ray Jones of Newark, O.; Roy McCain of Pontiac; and several others. The winners were Farmer Nims and Ray Jones. The auto-polo game was won by the team captained by Hughes Patterson.

An 18 year old stunt rider, "Buzz" Clark of Kokomo, Ind., did a roll-over strapped in an automobile. It is rumored that he performed the feat with three broken ribs. Mary Wiggins, girl stunt rider, rode a motorcycle through a barrier of heavy boards. Another thrill was provided by Captain Camilla LaMar, who jumped his motorcycle over an automobile.

A head-on automobile collision thrilled the audience, both drivers escaping to safety just before the crash. The Ash Can Derby, a race in which only the oddest and most battered of cars might be entered, was won by Larry Geyer, a Millford garage man.

The main event Saturday night was the re-enactment of a battle of the World War by the Oldenburg Post and the American Legion and a detachment of the 125th Infantry from Pontiac, complete with bombs and rifle fire.

Canadian's "Revolt" Aids Roosevelt Cabinet Minister's Expose A Surprise Dominion Urged To Have "New Deal"

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—A curious thing occurred in Canada the other day—in the advantage of the Roosevelt administration. It occurred unexpectedly, but greatly strengthened the Roosevelt administration with "Big Business."

The Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, Harry Stevens, issued a statement charging the "unscrupulous financiers and business men" had exploited Canada's commerce, public, starved her producers, sweated her workmen, gouged her pulp and paper and other industries, and had left the country faced with a choice of reform, dictatorship or revolution.

Now, that coming from the member of a Conservative cabinet, made American "Big Business" feel that the Roosevelt moves might, after all, be mild in comparison to what could actually occur in "unbridled hands."

BENNETT'S DILEMMA

Premier Bennett of Canada was in an embarrassing position by the statement in the first place he literally is a Tory. He is against an exchange and considers even the New Deal as something to be abhorred. He sends Communists to prison for incredible terms.

But it was not of himself that Premier Bennett thought when the Stevens' statement came to light, because he is not only a friend of friends and business associates of the premier as alleged beneficiaries of the system he denounced.

Minister Stevens produced his statement in pamphlet form, mailed it to a selected list of persons and then departed from Ottawa on a western holiday with 2,000 other copies. Additional copies were left behind in his own cabinet department. Premier Bennett immediately confiscated those.

IS OPANDA CONTENT?

Opponents of the Roosevelt New Deal invariably have pointed to Canada and England as places where "prosperity has returned all the quicker because there has been no New Deal hindrance."

The statement of Minister Stevens was based on a governmental investigation of business practices.

The disclosures were so startling that evidently the majority of the Conservative cabinet decided to keep the findings quiet.

Minister Stevens' remarks: "There are those who hold the view it would be better to keep this thing in the dark."

But, he adds: "I would not remain in that position any longer. Real conservatism in my mind does not consist of being allied with or dictated by large financial interests."

Judge Arthur J. Lacy of Detroit, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Michigan, will be the guest Saturday night in Pontiac of a group of Oakland county citizens who are sponsoring his candidacy.

Judge Lacy will be met upon arrival in Pontiac by the Oakland county committee at the Hotel Waldron. After dinner, a short executive session he will go to the Board of Commerce Auditorium where he will deliver an address on his platform for correction of what Judge Lacy terms "existing evils in our administration," and proposed constructive legislation for the betterment of economic conditions within the state.

Thomas Wallace In Automobile Accident

Wallace has been received here by his family, and his return from their summer home in the Berkshires, and their car wrecked when they were struck by an automobile going in the opposite direction.

The disclosures were so startling that evidently the majority of the Conservative cabinet decided to keep the findings quiet.

Minister Stevens' remarks: "There are those who hold the view it would be better to keep this thing in the dark."

But, he adds: "I would not remain in that position any longer. Real conservatism in my mind does not consist of being allied with or dictated by large financial interests."
