DEAMER'S HIT WINS GAME

Birmingham Stages Ninth Inning Rally To Defeat Hazel Park

The Birmingham A. C.'s came from behind to beat Hazel Park on the local diamond Sunday in typical Detroit Tiger fashion. With the score 9 to 1 against them in the eighth they started a hitting spree that sent the visitors home in defeat to the tune of 11 to 9.

With one man out in the eighth Kiley started a rally that netted three runs by singling to right field. McClelland walked and Morlock poked a short single to left filling the bases. Jewell bunted his third strike foul for the second out and Shultz clouted one into center field for two bases and all three runners scored. Clinghan popped to second to end the inning.

But in the ninth the locals couldn't be stopped. Deamer led off with a single to left and Winchell forced him at second but was safe at first. Bunyan walked. Kiley got his second hit of the game, scoring Winchell. McClelland was hit by the pitcher. Morlock faced Milke who replaced Moore on the mound and came through with his second hit of the game and Bunyan and Kiley crossed the plate, Schultz beat out an infield hit and McClelland scored. Clinghan struck out. With the bases-full Deamer came to bat for the second time in the inning and clinched the ball game by hitting deep into right center field and was rounding third before the ball was returned to the infield. He only received credit for a two-base hit, however, as that was all that was needed to win the ball game.

Besides the above important hitting the only bit of interest was the surprise clout of Forester's in the second inning. The fans have been waiting several weeks for "Dick" to hit one just like that and it provided quite a thrill.

With renewed confidence in themselves and a fighting spirit that Manager LeFave is trying hard to keep at top pitch in the boys, they promise an exciting contest when they meet the fast junior aggregation from Oakland Dairy, Pontiac, on the Birmingham field next Sunday.

Medical Profession Now Uses Hypnotism For Ills

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHAT CONDITIONS have been helped by hypnotism?

Mostly nervous and mental troubles: (1) Hysteria of the major as well as monosymptomatic type—i. e., loss of voice, muscular spasm, hysterical paralysis. (2) Nervous dyspepsia and other functional disorders. (3) Insomnia. (4) Mental troubles such as perversions of sentiment—melancholia, perverted sex, the apathy of young people. (5) Alcoholism. (6) Problem children—nail biting, lying, cruelty. (7) Obsessions, such as fear of cancer. (8) Some organic conditions, such as stuttering, seasickness, a few cases of epilepsy.

In what manner does hypnosis cure such cases?

The answer is pure theory, but the fact remains that such cures occur.

Note that all the conditions are functional.

In the hypnotic state the subject gains a far-reaching power over his own organism, and the volition and moral standard are raised. Suggestions made during hypnotic trance to overcome undesirable habits or attitudes are carried out in the waking state.

Many patients fear conflict after the hypnotic state. Thus alcoholics fear that they will be able to resist, but that the desire will still remain. Therefore they will be unhappy. But what actually happens in the successful experiment in the successful experiment is that the desire will disappear.

Are there any proved cases of cure by hypnosis?

Thousands. To give examples: HYSTERICAL SPASM. A government clerk, aged 41, developed a spasm of the neck muscles (torticollis) so severe that he only ventured out after dark, controlling the muscular spasms by holding the handle of his walking stick between his teeth. After several months' hypnotic treatment the spasms entirely ceased, the patient gained 50 pounds in weight.

MELANCHOLIA. Girl, aged 16, had for over a year wished to die. cried continually, refused food, and constantly made self accusations. Hypnotized several times and curative suggestions made during the hypnotic state. Improvement, amounting to recovery, in three months.

OBSESSIONS. Woman. Fear of storms and traveling. Hypnotized. Recovered.

These obsessions and fears are among the most hopeful cases for hypnotism. Said Montaigne: "I have seen more people driven to fight by the smell of apples than by arquebuses, others frightened at a mouse, made sick by the sight of cream, or by seeing a feather bed shaken."

MORBID FEARS. The number of people afflicted with these fears is far greater than most medical men realize. The patients are not insane, recognize the irrational character of their fears, but cannot rid themselves of the obsession.

Doctor Bramwell gives an illustrative case: A man was upset by some trouble of a sentimental nature and went to Paris for a few days' change. There he saw a play dealing with insanity. Immediately after, the laughter and gestures of his friends appeared insane and he began to fear that he himself was going insane. He recognized with his intellect that his friends were sound, but he could not rid himself of the fear. Hypnotism frequently yields good results in such cases.

Are their any failures with hypnotic treatment?

Certainly. Medical men would be in one of the products of Egypt, which to be real good results were claimed. But most of the cases have failed where all other methods stretched over a oblong quadrangular board.
