Pitt of Miami, and from Pleasant Ridge, Miss Corrine Krentler.

Holy Name Parish Plans Three-Day Fall Festival

Committees are being formed and preliminary arrangements made by the parishioners of Holy Name Church for what promises to be a highly colorful Fall Festival, to be held on the Holy Name School grounds Sept. 6, 7 and 8, for the benefit of the church and school.

J. C. O'Connor of Ridgeway avenue, general chairman of the event, which its sponsors hope will become an annual affair, says that although the plans are still in the tentative stage, they call for an attractive program of entertainment, with dancing and other carnival features to appeal to both young and old, for the three nights and one afternoon the Festival will be in progress.

The women's committee for the Festival is headed by Mrs. Harold H. Corson of West Maple avenue, who outlined her plans at a tea atended by 28 of the women parishioners Friday afternoon at Red Oaks, the home of Mrs. J. E. Moore.

A group of vocal soloists by Mrs. James L. Oliver of Villa road provided a delightful interlude to the business of planning the Festival.

Mrs. Bruce Swaney is chairman of publicity for the affair, and other members of the women's committee thus far appointed include: Mrs. Henry M. Foley, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Harry R. Keller, Mrs. Howard DeLongchamps, Mrs. George E. Baldwin, Mrs. J. Darby Cope and Mrs. Joseph Beh.

The committee will continue its planning at a bride's tea to be held next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank J. McDonough of Harrow road. Tea will be served out of doors. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements are Mrs. McDonough, Mrs. J. R. Adams and Mrs. Joseph Swaney.

Prominent Bloomfield Hills Couple Spending Honeymoon In British Columbia

Carlton M. Hiebge, of Kensington road, Bloomfield Hills, and his bride, the former Miss Annette Severn Phillips, are honeymooning in British Columbia, following their marriage last Thursday afternoon at Thornbrook, the Adams road home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Phillips.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. Charles W. Jones, in the presence of a small group of relatives. The bride, who had no attendants, was charmingly gowned in white organza, with pleated ruffles running from the yoke in front over the shoulders to the waistline on the back of the bodice. Her hat was a large cartwheel, fashioned of organza and hued in various shades of pink and lavender and white orchids.

Mrs. Phillips, mother of the bride, wore white also, but chose chiffon as the material for her gown. Her flowers were eiel blue larkspur.

Mrs. Hiebge is one of the Hills' most prominent horsewomen. She attended Loggott School in Belmont and was graduated from Low-Heywood School at Stamford, Conn., and made her bow to society at a ball at the Colony Club during the Christmas holiday season of 1930.

On their return from British Columbia, the couple will reside at Mr. Hiebge's estate on Kensington road.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle B. Wilson of Lincoln road had as their guests at the dinner dance at Pine Lake country club Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parritt of South Adams road, Miss Gladys Foley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Foley of Welch-drive, who was the guest of Earle Wilson, Jr., on the same occasion, Earle Wilson, Jr., suit entertainer, the Misses Dorothy Loretta and Ruth Parritt at his cottage on Lake Erie.

Child Must Learn Social Interests At Early Age

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Department Parent Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

RECENTLY I said that an outstanding group of professional persons describe in an open forum center about the non-social child.

Not long ago, before the Sixth Annual Child Welfare Conference of Detroit, while discussing "The Child and the Subject," before Our Babies Become Wives and Children, I said, among other things, that the child who is not socialized at an early age, from the time that he can toddle, are the best education for wholesome marriage and parenthood by and by; that by free play can good sportsmanship be easily learned, and that the child who won't play when he can't be boss may not be different from the wife or husband who leaves and runs home to mother.

Following the address came an array of problems concerning children of various ages—lonely children, timid children, children who could never get along with others on the playground, children who preferred younger or older playmates, and many adolescents who suffered severely from self-consciousness and either seemed content to be alone, or expressed anxiety because of the lonely child and girl friends. And I might add, the most touching letters I receive from boys and girls and young men and women are those which describe personality fears and worries over inability to be socially comfortable with others of their age, or to win friends.

Much can be done for these older sufferers by those who are sympathetic, through affording them more opportunity for social contacts, and encouraging their small successes. But generally the resistance to be overcome are formidable and the progress slow. Always one thinks or says, "If only they had been

A MATTER OF PERSONAL TASTE

There are many things in both bidding and play which are matters of personal taste than questions of right and wrong. My own preference is to play a hand bid of South's hand would have been 1-Heart, but many bidders will object to a call for our home suit of only 4 cards. South's preference was for 1-No Trump, which was my partner's bid. North bid 2-Clubs, South went 2-Hearts, which seems odd as long as he would not make an opening bid for his partner. North bid 3-Hearts, which South did not bid. North bid 4-Hearts, which was a powerful suit would have been utilized for the opening bid.

"Queen of Queens"

Miss Mary Louise Theis, co-ed of the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., has been chosen newspaper correspondent covering the university news, as their "Queen of Queens", selected from among all the university girls who, during the year, had been crowned queen of something or other.

Miss Theis was the unanimous choice of six reporters representing all Kansas City and St. Louis newspapers, several press associations and picture services, and was crowned at a banquet and dance at which newspapermen were guests.
