Don't Remain With Child At School, Mothers Told

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Department Parent Education Cleveland College,
Western Reserve University

MOST CHILDREN, especially those of the elementary grades, are eager to go back to school; and their parents are glad to see them go. In many a home the mother has felt worn and weary, with several restless children there who have not enough to do to keep them busy. One of the biggest contributions of the school is to this type of mother.

To the only child just old enough for books, the opening of school is a veritable boon. It probably is the first great step in his wearing, the beginning of emancipation from his home.

But some little children will not find it easy to be separated from their mothers. More mothers than children will, however, find this separation very painful. Along with the child to school many a mother will go, and all too many a mother will linger, some remaining at the school for hours. This lingering mother is the biggest burden which the kindergarten or primary teacher has during the early days of school.

Mother of this little child, please don't stay at school tomorrow. If you must go with your child, leave him nonchalantly at the door; turn back to your home, and don't look back. "Remember Lot's wife!"

Hardly will you have disappeared before your child has turned from tears to smiles. While you are there he cannot be himself nor join normally with the other children. But suppose your child implores you tomorrow morning, before leaving home, not to leave him at school? Before tomorrow go with him to the home of one of his classmates and prevail upon the parents of this other child to let that child come over to your home—a child who has been fully weaned. Hire this other child to call tomorrow morning for your child. If some adult must go along with them to school, let it not be you.

In case you plan to take your child to school tomorrow morning, please don't promise him that you

New MisSimplicities, Two-Way-Stretch Combinations and Girdles Talon Step-Ins, Seamless Hip and Low Backed Evening Garments

$5 Others $1.00 to $25

Model 3650. A combination for the shorter figure. The front of the garment is made of fine cotton batiste, the top and uplift bust of lace, reinforced with net, and the back skirt of firm two-way-stretch elastic. The skirt is fourteen inches long and has a one-way-stretch reinforced panel at the center back of the hip. It is reinforced and boned over the diaphragm. Semi-slip-on style. Two pairs of looped hose supporters. Peach. Sizes 32 to 42. Old and Even. $5.00

Model 3728. A garment for the average figure. It is made of figured batiste with sections of machine-knit elastic at the sides. The bust and back sections are made of Alencon tulle and it is a fourteen-inch skirt and is semi-standing or sitting. Peach. Sizes 32 to 44. $5.00

Model 4822. An adaptable garment for the average figure. It has the new Slidway feature for the comfort of the wearer. The top front of the garment is separate, just above the waistline, and overlaps the lower part so that the bustline may adjust itself to the figure in different positions, such as standing or sitting. The garment is made of fine rayon beaded batiste and machine-knit elastic. The bust of lace is cut for uplift. The skirt is fourteen inches long. Reinforced and boned in back and over the diaphragm. Three pairs hose supporters. Peach. Sizes 34 to 44. $7.50

Model 6024. A beautiful garment made of Astin-finish two-way stretch "Laxite" with a graceful front panel of fine Skinner's satin and a smart uplift bust of lace. More suitable for the taller average figure. The garment has no seams in the skirt, except where the "Laxite" joins the satin front. It is fifteen inches long. The back is cut very low. The satin panel front is reinforced and lightly boned. Two pairs of looped hose supporters. Peach. Sizes 32 to 40. Old and Even. $10.00
