In Birmingham Stores

With THE SHOPPING REPORTER

Last call before Christmas! driving in weather will more than repay you.

Our Birmingham stores are staying open these nights for you late shoppers, but even if you have all your gifts purchased, make a tour some evening of the shops—it's the spirit of the holiday. By the way, if I advise you to buy that so-mart hat at the nearest hat dealer, you'll know that what's wrong with me.

Speaking of automobiles, I saw the 1935 Dodge at OLD-FASHION MOTORS, Plyer and Dodge dealers, and it seems to have everything you could ask for in a car. A second car in the family means that Mother doesn't have to carry heavy bundles from the store, the children can be transported safely from home to school—and Dad can have his car when he wants it instead of when he can get it.

Christmas festivities call for wines with dinner, and a snack before bed of pretzels and beer. RITTER'S BEER store carries almost all beer you can think of, many kinds of wines, ginger ale and sparkling water, potato chips and pretzels. Those attractive copper buckets you have seen in the window come with a case of Verano's ginguar ale.

With so many lovely things in the stores, we'd all like to have twice as much to spend this Christmas. Why not start a savings account at the WABECK BANK for next year?

The change that slips through your fingers each year would make a beautiful Christmas gift.

I had to see what that jolly looking Santa in the BIRMINGHAM HARDWARE window was signaling about the other day. That knowing wink he's wearing might be because he knows that so many boys and girls want flashlights this year. Or perhaps he's signaling that I was over the little oak tables and chairs that I found inside. They are so well made and so sturdy that they can handle anything a boy or girl can do. I hope some of you have played with one in this store until I'm sure it's worn out—but they have lots more.

Let's hope there will be no automobile accidents to mar the happiness of any Birmingham family this Christmas. Take a little time from your shopping to have your car checked up at the R-C SERVICE station and equipped with skid chains. The safe feeling you will have while Everyone likes to know what his friends are doing so include on your gift list subscriptions to THE ECCENTRIC while the special rate of one dollar a year is still in force.

Yours for a Merry Christmas,

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa, You are a merry old man and in our room we have a picture of you, and you look so lovely in it. I know you work hard to make toys for girls and boys, and I know you come up the night but I am fast asleep then, and don't forget to bring me a Mary, Electric steamboat train, and some nice milk with it. With love,
ROBERT ORR

Dear Santa, I'm coming to see you very early. I hope your reindeer are all right for you have to start out. I would like a typewriter and one of those little fluffy cats, and a vacuum sweeper. If you can't give me all of them it will be all right. Your friend,
PATSY FAISY

Dear Santa, I hope you make every boy and girl in the world happy on Christmas. "Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way, oh what fun it is to ride in one horse open sleigh." I can't hardly wait till Christmas. I would like a pair of my runner skates for Christmas. I have a little brother that is 3 years old and he wants a dummy truck for Christmas. Your friend,
HELEN JEAN GILMAN

Dear Santa, I hope you can come to my home. I am going to leave you a Christmas present. I need two dresses and pants, and underwear and underwear, and an embroidery set, a great big Christmas. Your friend,
BETTY BECHER
