

Obituary

PATRICK DUNNINGAN Patrick Dunningan, 45 years old, died suddenly Monday morning of a hemorrhage at the Bloomfield Open Hunt, where he had been employed as a groom since June 1. He had previously worked a short time at the Grospe Point Hunt Club, coming from Painesville, O., where he leaves a wife and four children.

JOHN E. SIMONSON The Elks Lodge of Pontiac conducted funeral services Tuesday for John E. Simonson, 83-year-old native of Birmingham, who died in the B. P. O. E. Elks Home in Bedford, Va. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery here, where the monument of his father, the late A. D. Simonson, stands.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY— Forbes S. Hascall, local justice of the peace: "Never in my life have I seen the gravel roads of Michigan in such bad shape as they are now. Roads that have always been kept up in splendid shape by the state are now going to pieces. With so many beautiful scenic spots in Michigan, why are the highways neglected to such an extent that motoring over many of them is most uncomfortable?"

neer settler and a descendant of Governor Bradford of the Massachusetts Colony, was one of the leading citizens of Oakland County and the chief supporter of the Presbyterian Church in Birmingham for years.

"Later, in picking out your work, do so with the aim of getting into the thing that you will love doing. The ideal situation is to get paid for doing what you most like to do, that is, to be a professional without losing your amateur status.

"Call it your hobby, if you like, but it will be absolutely essential in order to keep your soul alive while you have to do the drudgery.

As a matter of fact, unless you can be an amateur at something very important in your life, you'll be nothing but a galley slave, whether your income is a thousand or a million.

Kingwood Graduates Hear Dr. Adams (Continued From Page 1, Part 2) schools and make school life a fine and worthy thing in itself, so that if you go no further you have still had an enlarging and rich experience.

Among the 24 graduates was Ellen Wallace, daughter of Mrs. Grace Booth Wallace and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, founder of Cranbrook. Miss Wallace was the winner of the Kingwood faculty award given annually to the senior who is judged to have contributed most to the school during her student days here.

CADDIES TO BE AID AT CLUB'S STAG DAY

A stag day program to be called "Caddy Dress Up Day" will be held at Pine Lake Country Club next Wednesday. Appreciating the service the caddies are giving as well as the fact that several of the boys are in need of clothing, each member has been asked to bring discarded shoes, socks, knickers, sweaters, underwear and other clothing together with old golf clubs. These will be distributed to the boys by Jack Inkster, caddy master. The caddy donation day idea was developed by the caddy committee, consisting of W. B. Schmidt, E. D. Emmons and W. H. McClure.
