At work to solve our problems.
We, the people, must learn that we will save our social, political, and economic life, and then labor unceasingly to apply these creative measures to the business of life. Not while we sleep will we better today but only when we remain wide awake to our opportunities.

Mr. Thomas believes that the capitalist system, kept alive by the profit motive, has brought panics and depressions upon the world because its leaders manipulated things. "The capitalist idea is built on the theory of scarcity. Create a scarcity of something and the public will pay high prices for it," is the foundation stone of capitalism. In the early days of the United States this system worked fairly well, because we had not yet conquered the vastness of this wide area. But now that there are no more frontiers remaining, now that we have huge cities and great industrial machinery, now that we have increased the productivity of the farm, we face new conditions. We face the necessity of complying with the laws behind the history of abundance. We must build our industry on a new basis.

Club Anticipates Swell Time, But Host Is Fearful

Instead of their regular weekly meeting next Tuesday noon at the Community House, Birmingham Exchanges will hold an evening meeting at the home of homecoming member George E. Verwey, 100 Oak avenue. At that meeting, various card tricks will be shown by several of the members, interspersed with a chalk talk by Harry S. Starr on the various successful and unsuccessful methods he uses to catch or scare the trout.

Dr. O. O. Beck will go to considerable length in discussing the conditions he found in Siberia while a member of the Hoover Food Administration during the World War, and James W. Taylor, associate justice of the peace here, will reveal the secrets of the rise to judicial heights on this here planet earth. Oliver Kirk, lawyer, whose many accomplishments include that of painting as a hobby, is especially adroit in still life work, with a preference for tomatoes and rhubarb.

Ralph Bricker, district manager for the Edison Company, and present president of the Exchanges, will explain the world's origin of electrical energy. Perry A. Vaughan, supervisor of the Birmingham Township, will go into municipal work, and James V. Bailey, clerk, and David E. Anderson, treasurer, have perfected a new method of annual income to people who live in this area, instead of exacting taxes.

Other Exchanges will be afforded opportunities to occupy the program, and it will be the first time the club has collectively held at the Averill homestead. It may be the last too. "My Averill confided, when informed of the philosophical nature of the program being prepared for the evening."

At the conclusion of his talk, which was given in the Royal Oak High School, a collection was taken up to assist in defraying the expense of Mr. Thomas. Sprinkling his remarks with bits of humor, he made a favorable impression on his audience. By early profession formed into an apostle of Karl Marx, and is devoting his entire time to the cause of Socialism. While you may not agree with most of his ideas, you will benefit by hearing him, for he is a genuine and a fair exponent of Socialism—even his most capitalistic enemy should grant him that distinction.
