PERMANENT This writer has made a study of numerous articles and books and views holding that the Roosevelt "patching of the capitalist world" was not the structure...

But what if it does? What if the patching becomes, in spite of Roosevelt, an evolutionary process by which the structure is entirely remade without violence?

That view is held in many conservative quarters—with alarm and distrust.

Drawback The chief drawback to recovery, either on a capitalist or a socialist or a communistic scale, is trade barriers.

Only by such a free flow of goods and services, and not by business recovery for any nation or any people.

The tie that binds the peoples of the world today is so closely and sensitively wound in and among the peoples of America who share my ideas...

A CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW The majority of persons writing letters to this column express the view that the United States is veering to the left.

Clarence McCormick of New Wilmington, Pa., concentrates the opinion of many when he writes: "For several months back I have been very much interested in your articles. You seem to be very broad-minded and unprejudiced."

"I have traveled in 37 states as a farm laborer. "I was a life-long Republican until the spring of 1932."

"I voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt and I still support most of his ideas for I feel he is for all the people, whereas Hoover was for the privileged few."

"My ancestors came to this country before the Revolutionary War, therefore I cannot be accused of being a foreigner. I now am a genuine radical of America."

"I am surprised at the number of Americans who share my ideas. God placed the fertility in the soil, minerals, gas and oil into the bowels of the earth, and everything is given to all of us for our daily needs. A few animals in human form are trying to control all these things, which are placed here for the benefit of all."
