AUTO KILLS FATHER OF 10

Services Held Tuesday For George E. Wright, 45, Traffic Victim

Funeral services for George E. Wright, 45 years old, of 844 Pierce street, who left a wife and 10 children when he died Saturday night of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile, were held Tuesday afternoon from the S. O. Willie Bell Funeral Home, with burial in Greenwood Cemetery. The Rev. Dr. R. D. Hopkins, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated. Mr. Wright, who was a carpenter by trade, and his family had been visiting at the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Fred Gleesing, 2905 Grand River avenue near Middle Belt road. He went for a walk in the evening and was struck by a car near the Gleesing home.

The car was driven by William J. Davis, 421 East 24th avenue, Detroit, who said he failed to see Mr. Wright until too late to avoid hitting him. Mr. Wright was thrown 20 feet, deputies said. He was dead of shock and internal hemorrhage on admittance to Redford Receiving Hospital.

Mr. Wright was born in Covington, Ky., and came to Farmington, 10 years ago from Centralia, Ill. He had lived in Birmingham the past four years.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Hattie Davis Wright, and 10 children, George E., Jr., Bennie J., Clifford D., John F., Muriel H., Beatrice L., Tillie M., Carolyn M., and Doris Ann, all of Birmingham, and Mrs. C. A. Long of Royal Oak. The father, William C. Wright, of Plant City, Fla.; a brother, Edward of Detroit, and three sisters, Mrs. Maude Richard, Mrs. Bessie Richard and Mrs. Hattie Redman, all of Centralia, also survive.

Young Fire Hero Inspires National Club Movement

Organization of the Young American Fire Preventers, Inc., was under way today with the announcement that application blanks and membership cards were available at the Bloomfield Hills fire department, now located in the township garage on East Long Lake road.

One of the Bloomfield firemen is Carl O. Copeman, whose six-year-old son, Jerry, is the inspiration for what may soon become an organization of nation-wide membership. Jerry has been a patient since last March in the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, recovering from a scarred lung sustained in April, 1933, when he saved the life of his sister, Joyce, then two years old, by stamping out flames from a grass fire which had endangered the lives of his mother and father. He was playing in a woods near their home in Berkley.

Berkley Youths Organize

The foundation of the organization is a group of six Berkley youths who came to Jerry's father last January for instruction in the fire-prevention and life-saving methods which Jerry had been taught and which had enabled him to save his sister's life.

These six youths organized a club known as the Jerry Copeman Fire Prevention Club, which now has 20 active members, all enthusiastic and faithful students of fire-prevention. None of the clubs has incorporated as a non-profit organization under the name of the Young American Fire Preventers, with the endorsement of fire prevention leaders throughout the state.

Fire Chief Russell V. Moore of Bloomfield Hills, who cooperates with Copeman in organizing the unit there, "I think the movement is a wonderful thing," Chief Moore said, "and believe the people of Bloomfield Hills will appreciate the opportunity of having their boys and girls learn fire-prevention and life-saving methods."

Pontiac Club Enthusiast

Affiliated clubs are to be organized in Pontiac Friday night under the supervision of Fire Chief Frank W. Kahn, who is enthusiastic over the educational possibilities of the movement, and additional clubs will be formed in other Oakland County communities, including Big Rapids, according to fireman J. B. Gault, who is in charge of the movement in that city.

To be eligible for membership in the organization, children must be between the ages of five and 15, and must learn the following oath: "I give my word of honor to prevent fires by removing fire hazards."

Draper Allen Called "Preferred" Candidate For Democratic Congressional Nomination

One of the Birmingham residents who is a candidate for nomination in Tuesday's primaries is Draper Allen, 528 Westwood drive, who has been selected by the Detroit Citizens League as the preferred candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 17th district.

Long a resident of Oakland County, Mr. Allen was born in Kansas. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has been a member of the American Legion since 1920.

Draper Allen tended the public schools of Chicago, later doing special research and extension work in commerce and finance. He has been connected with the lumber and allied industries in the greater Detroit area for several years, is married and the father of two children. He served in the World War, and is a graduate of the American Legion and a 32nd degree Mason.

His platform calls for immediate tax supervision of the farmer, farmer and business man, and "proper support and protection" for those requiring assistance, and for the industry to absorb the unemployed into its ranks.

He believes in continuation of the NRA, but only as a temporary measure until such time as the pieces of farm products can be restored to their approximate 1920 levels, and advocates the strict supervision of all banks and the elimination of bank holding companies.

Mr. Allen believes "in a minimum of governmental restriction and supervision of business, and that it may earn reasonable, just and fair profit; that it may be fair and generous with labor, and at the same time give due consideration to those having investments, no matter how small, in the various industries of the nation."

He favors continuance of the NRA as long as a national emergency exists, and in permanent retention of such features of the act as elimination of scale and maximum hours for labor.

His platform further calls for the elimination of child labor, claiming that "this can be done without affecting the financial stability of the government."

New Commercial Teacher Is Hired

The Board also granted the request of Mrs. Helen Kidler, art teacher at Baldwin High, that she be allowed to work on a half-day basis on the first semester. The remainder of her work will be taken over by Miss Joyce Stewart, Birmingham, a graduate of Baldwin High School and of the University of Michigan.

Central U. S. Bank On Way? Government To Own All Credit? Strikers And Relief Rolls

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—There is belief in New York that the Roosevelt administration will wind up with a central government bank. Certain it is, the only large credit strike is now the government's, and that which is made by the government.

One group, urging a central bank, holds that the American monetary system and the purchasing power of the dollar are controlled by private interests—and that those private interests have been waging the most disastrous strike on record" against government policies by "freezing" credit.

The matter seems hardly so simple as that. Yet each country has been forced into direct control of its currency and banking, and a central bank in the United States would not be a surprise. The charge then would be that it was subject to political maneuvering.

One danger inherent in "cheapening" credit, in the piling up of large reserves in banks, is the possibility of "breaking of the dam" when real inflation comes. Then all that cheap credit would pour out into the market and production would be such a high intensity that the bubble would burst worse than ever.

NO DEMAND FOR CREDIT

There is actually no demand for large credits. Trade precedes borrowings by large industries. In other words, forcing credit prior to trade is placing the cart before the horse.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is taking a different attitude concerning the banks since going businesses have made no rush to borrow from the American Legion, which the RFC and Federal System have for direct loans to such businesses. These two government agencies have been able to loan only $15,000,000.

Jones now gives this benediction to the banks: "As a whole they are doing their share in lending. Most of the banks have stopped forcing liquidation of businesses and are tending to make loans to industry on longer and more favorable terms."

In spite of the Jones' benediction, however, the trend of the Progressives and of a large element in the Democratic party is for a complete centralization of credits in the hands of the Federal Government.

CANT ESCAPE NRA

The NRA is inescapable—in the United States.

That is the burden of a decision in New York by Justice Samuel L. Rosenman in the New York Supreme Court.

Justice Rosenman upheld in principle the contention of the New York Regional Labor Board that "run-away employers"—employers moving their plants to other communities to escape obligations under higher union standards, could be stopped from moving to

CITY TO HAVE ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM

An adult education program, similar to the FEERA program held here last winter, apparently almost certain to be repeated in Birmingham this year. Charles W. Crandell, superintendent of schools, informed the Board of Education Tuesday night that government funds for such a project will again be available, and he was authorized to draft a program.
